Note 1 - Description of Plan

The following brief description of the Goode Cook, Inc. 401(k) Profit Sharing Plan (the Plan) provides only general information. Participants should refer to the plan document for a more complete description of the Plan's provisions.

General

The Plan, sponsored by Goode Cook, Inc. (the Employer and Company), is a defined contribution plan covering substantially all employees of the Company and affiliated entities. The Plan is subject to the provisions of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended (ERISA). The Plan was adopted by the Company on January 1, 1992. Goode Cook, Inc. serves as the plan administrator.

The Plan, through its group annuity contract with John Hancock Life Insurance Company (John Hancock), offers pooled separate accounts and guaranteed interest accounts as investment options to participants in the Plan. John Hancock serves as the asset custodian and recordkeeper of the Plan. Two employees of the Company serve as the Plan's trustees.

Eligibility

An employee may begin participating in the Plan on the first open enrollment date following his or her date of employment. Open enrollment dates are January 1, February 1, and August 1. Employees become eligible to receive employer matching contributions starting on the next open enrollment date after completing one year of service during which the employee has worked at least 1,000 service hours.

Contributions

Participants may elect to defer a percentage of their compensation during any plan year, subject to a maximum imposed by the Internal Revenue Code (IRC). The Employer makes safe-harbor matching contributions equal to 100% of the amount contributed by each participant up to 3% of compensation and 50% of the amount contributed on the next 2% of compensation. In addition, the Employer may make special discretionary matching contributions on behalf of non-highly compensated employees completing one year of service and actively employed on the last day of the plan year equal to a percentage of each participant's elective deferrals. A discretionary profit sharing contribution may also be made on behalf of all employees completing one year of service and actively employed on the last day of the plan year. Any discretionary profit sharing contributions are allocated to participants' accounts in the same proportion that each participant's compensation for the year bears to the total compensation of all participants for such year. No special discretionary matching contributions or discretionary profit sharing contributions were made by the Employer during 2012.

Participant Accounts

Each participant's account is credited with the participant's contribution, the Employer matching contribution, an allocation of any employer discretionary contribution, plan earnings and losses, as applicable, and charged with an allocation of administrative expenses.

Vesting

Participants are immediately vested in salary deferral contributions, employer safe-harbor matching contributions, and earnings allocated thereon. If the Employer makes any discretionary contributions to the Plan, participants become 20% vested upon completion of two years of service, increasing 20% per year thereafter, and becoming fully vested after six years of service.

Forfeitures

Forfeitures from discretionary employer matching and profit sharing contributions are used to offset future employer matching contributions or to pay plan expenses. There were $4,772 and $66 of available forfeitures as of December 31, 2012 and 2011, respectively. There were no forfeitures used for the year ended December 31, 2012 to reduce employer contributions or to reduce plan expenses.

Notes Receivable from Participants

Notes receivable from participants are loans to participants secured by the vested portion of their accounts as prescribed in the plan document. Loans outstanding at December 31, 2012 bear interest at 4.25%, which represents the prime rate plus one percent on the date of issuance. The loans are repaid through payroll deductions. A participant may not have more than one loan outstanding at any time. Loans issued are no less than $1,000, with a maximum value limited to the lesser of $50,000 or one-half of the participant's vested account balance. Loan payments are limited to five years unless for the purchase of a principal residence which can extend to 20 years. The recordkeeper charges a fee for the loan origination which is deducted from the participant's account. A participant's loan balance becomes immediately due and payable upon termination of employment.

Payment of Benefits

Upon termination of service, death, or disability, a participant's vested balance may be distributed to the participant as a lump-sum payment or annuity or transferred directly to an Individual Retirement Account (IRA) or another qualified employer-sponsored plan. If a participant's vested balance is $1,000 or greater, the participant may choose to leave their vested balance in the Plan and defer distribution until a future date. Under certain circumstances, plan participants may withdraw the value of their account while still employed upon the attainment of age 59½ or for reasons of financial hardship.

Upon withdrawal from the Plan or termination of employment, participants may be subject to federal income tax on contributions and income earned.

Note 2 - Summary of Accounting Policies

Basis of Accounting

The financial statements of the Plan are prepared on the accrual basis of accounting in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America (GAAP).

Investment Valuation and Income Recognition

Investments are reported at fair value. Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. See Note 4 for discussion of fair value measurements.

Purchases and sales of securities are recorded on a trade-date basis. Interest income is recorded as earned. Net investment gain or loss in the fair value of pooled separate accounts includes reinvested dividends, realized gains or losses on pooled separate accounts sold during the year as well as appreciation or depreciation of pooled separate accounts held at the end of the year.

Notes receivable from participants are measured at their unpaid principal balance plus any accrued but unpaid interest. In general, notes receivable from participants are considered to be in default in the calendar quarter following the quarter in which no payment is made and are accounted for as a distribution based upon the terms of the plan document when a distributable event has occurred. Interest income on notes receivable from participants is recorded on the accrual basis.

Payment of Benefits

Benefits paid to participants or beneficiaries are recorded when paid.

Administrative Expenses

Unless paid by the Employer, administrative costs are paid by the Plan.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with GAAP requires the plan administrator to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and changes therein, and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Risks and Uncertainties

The Plan provides for investment in various investment securities. Investment securities are exposed to various risks, such as interest rate, market, and credit. Due to the level of risk associated with certain investment securities and the level of uncertainty related to changes in the value of investment securities, it is at least reasonably possible that changes in risks in the near term would materially affect participants' account balances and the amounts reported in the statements of net assets available for benefits.

Subsequent Events

Management evaluates events occurring subsequent to the date of the financial statements in determining the accounting for and disclosure of transactions and events that affect the financial statements. Subsequent events have been evaluated through October 2, 2013, which is the date the financial statements were available to be issued.

Note 3 - Information Certified by the Plan's Asset Custodian

The plan administrator has elected the method of annual reporting compliance permitted by 29 CFR 2520.103-8 of the Department of Labor's Rules and Regulations for Reporting and Disclosure under ERISA. Accordingly, as permitted under such election, the plan administrator has obtained a certification from John Hancock that all of the information provided is complete and accurate. Information included in the accompanying financial statements and accompanying notes to financial statements as to investments, notes receivable from participants, investment income, interest income on notes receivable from participants, and all information in the supplemental schedule of assets (held at end of year) is presented in reliance solely upon this certification.

The Plan's independent auditors did not perform auditing procedures with respect to this information, except for comparing such information certified by the asset custodian to the related information included in the Plan's financial statements, the accompanying notes and the supplemental schedule.

Note 4 - Fair Value Measurements

GAAP provides a fair value hierarchy that prioritizes the inputs to valuation techniques used to measure fair value. The hierarchy gives the highest priority to unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities (Level 1 measurements) and the lowest priority to unobservable inputs (Level 3 measurements). The three levels of the fair value hierarchy are described as follows:

Level 1 - Inputs to the valuation methodology are unadjusted quoted prices for identical assets or liabilities in active markets that the Plan has the ability to access.

Level 2 - Inputs to the valuation methodology include:

- Quoted prices for similar assets or liabilities in active markets;
- Quoted prices for identical or similar assets or liabilities in inactive markets;
- Inputs other than quoted prices that are observable for the asset or liability;
- Inputs that are derived principally from or corroborated by observable market data by correlation or other means.

If the asset has a specified (contractual) term, the Level 2 inputs must be observable for substantially the full term of the asset or liability.

Level 3 - Inputs to the valuation methodology are unobservable and significant to the fair value measurement.

An asset's fair value measurement level within the fair value hierarchy is based on the lowest level of any input that is significant to the fair value measurement. Valuation techniques used need to maximize the use of observable inputs and minimize the use of unobservable inputs.

Following is a description of the valuation methodologies used for assets measured at fair value. There have been no changes in the methodologies used at December 31, 2012 and 2011.

Pooled Separate Accounts: These funds are valued at the net asset value (NAV) of shares held by the Plan at year end. The NAV is determined by the issuer and is based on the fair value of the underlying investments held by the pooled separate account. Each pooled separate account holds shares of a single underlying mutual fund.

Guaranteed Interest Accounts: The John Hancock Three-Year Compound, Five-Year Compound, and Ten-Year Compound funds are valued by the issuer. The issuer guarantees the return of principal plus the stated compound interest earned over the defined three, five and ten year periods, less any applicable contract or participant-level charges, provided that all contributions remain in the account until the end of the three, five and ten year guarantee periods. Interest rates are established on the first day of each calendar month. There are no minimum interest rates for these funds.

The following tables set forth by level, within the fair value hierarchy, the Plan's fair value measurements:

In accordance with the fair value measurements and disclosure guidance, the following information is provided for the pooled separate accounts that calculate NAV as of December 31, 2012 and 2011:

a) Conservative allocation: Conservative allocation funds seek to provide both capital appreciation and income by investing in three major areas: stocks, bonds, and cash. These funds tend to hold smaller positions in stocks than moderate-allocation funds. These funds typically have 20% to 50% of assets in equities and 50% to 80% of assets in fixed income and cash.

b) Target-date funds: Target-date funds provide a diversified exposure to stocks, bonds, and cash for those investors who have a specific date in for retirement or another goal. These funds aim to provide investors with an optimal level of return and risk, based solely on the target date. Over time, management adjusts the allocation among asset classes to more conservative mixes as the target date approaches.

c) Money market: Money market funds invest in U.S. and foreign currencies through the use of short-term money market instruments; derivative instruments including (and not limited to) forward currency contracts, index swaps, and options; and cash deposits.

d) Large blend: These funds seek capital appreciation. They usually invest assets in the following types of underlying funds: large capitalization funds, international funds, bonds, and short-term bonds. The funds invest in both U.S. and foreign companies.

e) Moderate allocation: Moderate-allocation funds seek to provide both capital appreciation and income by investing in three major areas: stocks, bonds, and cash. These funds tend to hold larger positions in stocks than conservative-allocation funds. These funds typically have 50% to 70% of assets in equities and the remainder in fixed income and cash.

f) Aggressive allocation: Aggressive allocation funds seek to provide both capital appreciation and income by investing in three major areas: stocks, bonds, and cash. These funds tend to hold larger positions in stocks than moderate-allocation funds. These funds typically have 70% to 90% of assets in equities and the remainder in fixed income and cash.

g) World stock: An international fund having more than 20% of stocks invested in the United States and the remaining invested in international equities.

h) Large growth: These funds investments seek long term capital appreciation by investing primarily in common stocks. They may also hold fixed-income and other securities to help preserve principal value. The funds will invest primarily in the common stocks of established companies management believes to have above-average potential for capital growth. The remaining assets are generally invested in other securities, including convertible securities, corporate and government debt, foreign securities, futures, and options, in keeping with funds' objectives.

i) Short-term government: A fund with at least 90% of its bond portfolio invested in government issues with a duration of greater than or equal to one year and less than 3.5 years, or average effective maturity of greater than or equal to one year and less than four years.

j) World bond: A fund that invests at least 40% of bonds in foreign markets.

k) Large value: These funds seek high total return through capital appreciation and current income. The funds normally invest in a portfolio of income producing equity securities.

l) World allocation: World-allocation funds seek to provide both capital appreciation and income by investing in three major areas: stocks, bonds, and cash. While these funds do explore the whole world, most of them focus on the U.S., Canada, Japan, and the larger markets in Europe.

m) Specialty funds: Domestic-equity funds that specialize in a particular sector of the market including but not limited to natural resources and utilities.

n) Aggressive international growth: The fund seeks to provide long-term capital growth by investing primarily in securities of foreign issuers.

o) Mid-cap blend: These funds seek long-term capital appreciation. The primary objective of the funds is to capture the return premiums of mid-size of U.S. company asset classes by investing in a well diversified portfolio of securities.

p) Diversified emerging markets: These funds have at least 50% of stocks invested in emerging markets.

q) Small growth: These funds seek long-term capital growth by investing in a portfolio of equity securities of small-capitalization and emerging growth companies.

r) Mid-cap growth: These funds seek long-term growth of capital by investing primarily in equity securities of companies with market capitalization that approximately match the range of the Wilshire Mid-Cap 750 Index.

s) Small blend: These funds seek long-term capital appreciation. The primary objective of the funds is to capture the return premiums of the U.S. small company asset class by investing in a well diversified portfolio of securities.

t) Intermediate-term bond: A fund that focuses on corporate, government, foreign or other issues with an average duration of greater than or equal to 3.5 years but less than or equal to six years, or an average effective maturity of more than four years but less than 10 years.

Note 6 - Plan Termination

Although it has not expressed any intent to do so, the Employer has the right under the Plan to terminate the Plan subject to the provisions of ERISA. In the event of the Plan's termination, participants will become fully vested in their account balances.

Note 7 - Tax Status

The Company adopted a prototype plan offered by John Hancock. The prototype plan obtained its latest determination letter on March 31, 2008, in which the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) stated that the Plan, as then designed, was in compliance with the applicable requirements of the IRC. The prototype plan has been amended since receiving the determination letter. However, the plan administrator believes that the Plan, through the adoption of the prototype plan, is currently designed and being operated in compliance with the applicable requirements of the IRC. Therefore, no provision for income taxes has been included in the Plan's financial statements.

GAAP requires plan management to evaluate tax positions taken by the Plan and recognize a tax liability if the Plan has taken an uncertain position that more likely than not would not be sustained upon examination by the IRS. The plan administrator has analyzed the tax positions taken by the Plan, and has concluded that as of December 31, 2012 and 2011, there are no uncertain positions taken or expected to be taken that would require recognition of a liability or disclosure in the financial statements. The prior three tax years are subject to income tax examinations by taxing authorities.

Note 8 - Party-in-Interest Transactions

The Plan engages in investment transactions with funds managed by the asset custodian, a party-in-interest with respect to the Plan. These transactions are covered by an exemption from the "prohibited transaction" provisions of ERISA and the IRC.
