401(k) Plan
Notes to Financial Statements
March 31, 2010 and 2009

Note 1: Description of Plan

The following description of the Earth Systems, Inc. (the Company) 401(k) Plan (the Plan) provides only general information. Participants should refer to the Plan agreement for a more complete description of the Plan's provisions.

General

The Plan is a type of defined contribution plan under which each participant has a specific account balance. The Plan covers all employees of the Company who have six months of service in which they were employed 500 or more hours and have attained age twenty-one. It is subject to the provisions of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (ERISA). The Plan was most recently restated effective May 1, 2009.

Contributions

Participants may contribute to the Plan through salary reductions. Participants may also rollover contributions from other qualified retirement plans. The Company may elect to match the participants' contributions up to a specified percentage. Each year, the Company may also elect at its discretion to contribute a lump sum amount to the Plan. This contribution will be credited to eligible participant accounts provided the employees are still employed on the last day of the Plan year and have completed one year of service, in which they were employed 1,000 or more hours during the Plan year.

Beginning on April 1, 2008, new eligible participants are automatically enrolled in the Plan and begin salary deferrals unless the participant makes an election to opt out of the Plan or change the starting deferral percentage. Salary deferrals begin at 3% of eligible compensation per pay period and escalate each year by 1% after the second Plan year of participation in the Plan with a maximum deferral of 6%.

Participant Accounts

Each participant's account is credited with their salary deferral contribution and with an allocation of the Company's contribution and Plan earnings. Allocations are based on participants' compensation. The benefit to which a participant is entitled is the benefit that can be provided from the participants' vested account.

Vesting and forfeitures

Participants are immediately vested in their contributions. Prior to April 1, 2008 participants were also immediately vested in employer contributions. Effective April 1, 2008, employer contributions are vested over a two-year period for any contributions made after March 31, 2008. Forfeitures of employer contributions can be used to pay any administrative expenses of the Plan or reduce the amount of employer contributions. For the years ended March 31, 2010 and 2009, no forfeited non-vested accounts were used.

Payment of Benefits

Upon termination, the participant or beneficiary may elect to leave their account balance in the Plan or receive their total benefits in a lump sum amount equal to the value of the participant's interest in their account. The Plan allows for automatic lump sum distribution of participant vested account balances that do not exceed $5,000.

Investment Options

Participants can invest their salary deferral contributions and direct their employer contributions to mutual funds offered by StanCorp Investment Advisors, Inc., a subsidiary of StanCorp Financial Group, Inc. held at Reliance Trust Company, the custodian.

Participant Loans

Participants may borrow from their accounts a minimum of $1,000 up to a maximum of $50,000 equal to the lesser of $50,000 or 50% of their vested account balance. The loans are secured by the balance in the participant's account and bear interest at prime plus 2%, as of the loan date. Principal and interest is paid through payroll deductions.

Administrative Expenses

Plan administration expenses are paid by the Company, and advisory expenses are paid for by the Plan.

Fair Value Measurement and Income Recognition

Investments are reported at fair value. If available, quoted market prices are used to value investments. If quoted prices in an active market are not available, the investments are reported at estimated fair value. Many factors are considered in arriving at fair value. For example, corporate bonds could be valued based on yields currently available on comparable securities of issuers with similar credit ratings. Participant loans are valued at their outstanding balance, which approximates fair value.

Fair Value Measurements and Disclosures Topic of the FASB Accounting Standards Codification (the "Topic"), establishes a framework for measuring fair value. That framework provides a fair value hierarchy that prioritizes the inputs to valuation techniques used to measure fair value. Fair value is defined as the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability (an exit price) in an orderly transaction between market participants at the reporting date. The Topic also established a three-tier hierarchy, which prioritizes the inputs used in the valuation methodologies in measuring fair value:

Level 1: Inputs to the valuation methodology are unadjusted quoted prices for identical assets or liabilities in active markets that the Plan has the ability to access.

Level 2: Inputs to the valuation methodology include:

- Quoted prices for similar assets and liabilities in active markets;
- Quoted prices for identical or similar assets or liabilities in inactive markets;
- Inputs other than quoted prices that are observable for the asset or liability;
- Inputs that are derived principally from or corroborated by observable market data by correlation or other means.

If the asset or liability has a specified (contractual) term, the Level 2 input must be observable for substantially the full term of the asset or liability.

Level 3: Inputs to the valuation methodology are unobservable and significant to the fair value measurement.

The asset's and liability's fair value measurement level within the fair value hierarchy is based on the lowest level of any input that is significant to the fair value measurement. Valuation techniques used need to maximize the use of observable inputs and minimize the use of unobservable inputs.

The following is a description of the valuation methodologies used for assets measured at fair value:

Registered investment companies/mutual funds: Investments in registered investment companies are stated at the respective funds' NAV, which is determined based on market values at the closing price on the last business day of the year. The NAV is a quoted price in an active market and classified within Level 1 of the valuation hierarchy.

Common/collective trust funds: The fair values of investments in common/collective trust funds are based on their net asset values ("NAV") reported by the investment advisor in the audited financial statements of the common/collective trusts at year-end. The NAV is a quoted price in a market that is not active and classified within Level 2 of the valuation hierarchy.

Guaranteed investment contract: Valued at the amount plan participants would receive currently if they were to withdraw or transfer funds within the Plan prior to maturity (some investments allow withdrawal without penalty for death, disability, termination or retirement). The fair value of the guaranteed investment contracts ("GICs") is based on the underlying investments. The underlying investments are common/collective trust funds, which are public investment vehicles, valued at the NAV as described above. Because the NAV is a quoted price in a market that is not active, they are classified within Level 2 of the valuation hierarchy.

As described in FSP AAG-INV and SOP 94-4-1, Reporting of Fully Benefit-Responsive Investment Contracts Held by Certain Investment Companies Subject to the AICPA Investment Company Guide and Defined-Contribution Health and Welfare and Pension Plans (the FSP), investment contracts held by a defined contribution plan are required to be reported at fair value. However, contract value is the relevant measurement attribute for that portion of the net assets available for benefits of a defined contribution plan attributable to fully benefit-responsive investment contracts because contract value is the amount participants would receive if they were to initiate permitted transactions under the terms of the Plan. The Plan invests in investment contracts in a MetLife separate account under a guaranteed investment contract. As required by the FSP, the statement of net assets available for benefits presents the fair value of the investment in the separate account as well as the adjustment of the investment in the separate account from fair value to contract value relating to the investment contracts. The statement of changes in net assets available for benefits is prepared on the contract value basis.

Participant loans: Valued at amortized cost, which approximates fair value.

In September 2009, FASB issued an amendment "Investments in Certain Entities That Calculate Net Asset Value per Share (or its Equivalent)" (ASU 2009-12), which provides guidance on how entities should estimate fair value on certain alternative investments. The fair value of investments within the scope of this guidance can now be determined using net asset value ("NAV") per share as a practical expedient, when the fair value is not readily determinable, unless it is probable the investment will be sold at something other than NAV. It also requires disclosures of certain attributes by major category of alternative investments, regardless of whether the practical expedient was used. This amendment was effective for periods after December 15, 2009, with early adoption permitted. Adoption of this guidance has no impact on the financial statements of the Plan.

The methods described above may produce a fair value calculation that may not be indicative of net realizable value or reflective of future fair values. Furthermore, while the Plan believes its valuation methods are appropriate and consistent with other market participants, the use of different methodologies or assumptions to determine the fair value of certain financial instruments could result in a different fair value measurement at the reporting date.

The following sets forth by level, within the fair value hierarchy, the Plan's investments at fair value as of March 31, 2010:

Plan Administration Expenses

Administrative expenses on the Plan were $77,959 and $75,723 for the years ended March 31, 2010 and 2009, respectively, and are paid by the Plan.

Note 3: Information Prepared and Certified by Trustee

The following information included in the accompanying financial statements and supplemental schedules was obtained from data that has been prepared and certified to us as complete and accurate by the trustee. The following table presents this certified information, including the fair value of investments that include 5% or more of the Plan's net assets of and for the years ended March 31, 2010 and 2009:

	2010	2009
MetLife GIC	$ 1,252,106	$ 1,004,315
Reliance Advisory Trust Inv20	1,133,208	687,352
Reliance Advisory Trust Inv30	822,276	1,007,264
Reliance Advisory Trust Inv40	1,639,587	1,062,786

Reliance Advisory Trust Inv80	2,345,491	1,581,035
Reliance Advisory Trust InvSM	761,358	553,405
Reliance Advisory Trust InvLC	1,267,188	979,871
Other investments less than 5% of net assets:	2,866,951	2,011,318
Total investments	$ 13,758,513	$ 10,090,945

During the years ended March 31, 2010 and 2009, the Plan's investments (including investments bought, sold, and held during the period) appreciated (depreciated) in value by $3,350,735 and $(3,048,565), respectively. Dividend and interest income (including interest from participant loans) during the years ended March 31, 2010 and 2009 was $16,192 and $20,849, respectively.

Note 4: Investment Contracts

In 2004, the Plan entered into a benefit-responsive investment contract with Reliance Trust Company (Reliance). MetLife maintains the contributions in a separate account. The account is credited with earnings on the underlying investments and charged for participants' withdrawals and administrative expenses. The Guarantee Investment Contract (GIC) issuer is contractually obligated to repay the principal and accrued interest that is guaranteed to the Plan. The crediting interest rate is based on a formula agreed with the issuer, but may not be less than 0%. Such interest rates are reviewed on a quarterly basis.

As described in Note 2, because the GIC is fully benefit-responsive, contract value is the relevant measurement attribute for that portion of the net assets available for benefits attributable to the GIC. Contract value represents contributions made under the contract, plus earnings, less participant withdrawals and administrative expenses. MetLife will reset the rate by amortizing the difference between the market value of the portfolio and guaranteed value over the weighted average duration of the GIC's investments. Participants will receive the principal and accrued earnings credited to their accounts on withdrawal for allowed events. These events include transfers to other Plan investment options, and payments because of retirement, termination of employment, disability, death and in-service withdrawals as permitted by the Plan.

Average yield for GIC
Based on actual earnings	12.71%	-3.31%
Based on interest rate credited to participants	3.42%	4.25%

Note 5: Plan Termination

The Company has the right under the Plan to discontinue its contributions at any time and to terminate the Plan subject to the provisions of ERISA.

Note 6: Additional Financial Statement Disclosures

Under ERISA, the Department of Labor and the Internal Revenue Service have the authority to issue regulations covering reporting and disclosure requirements, certain administrative responsibilities, and enforcement powers. The items enumerated below are required to be disclosed to meet ERISA guidelines.

1. The Plan received a favorable letter of determination from the Internal Revenue Service on May 2, 2007, regarding its qualified tax status for the Plan.

2. All reportable transactions have been disclosed in supplemental schedules of the annual report made available to the Plan participants.

Note 6: Additional Financial Statement Disclosures (Continued)

The Financial Accounting Standards Board issued new guidance on accounting for uncertainty in income taxes under the Income Taxes Topic. The Plan adopted this new guidance for the year ended March 31, 2010. Management evaluated the Plan's tax positions and concluded that the Plan has maintained its tax exempt status and has taken no uncertain tax positions that require adjustment to the financial statements. Therefore, no provision or liability for income taxes has been included in the financial statements.

Note 7: Recent Accounting Pronouncements

In January 2010, FASB issued amendments to the Fair Value Measurements and Disclosures Topic (ASU 2010-06) which requires new disclosures and reasons for transfers of financial assets and liabilities between Levels 1 and 2. This amendment also clarifies that fair value measurement disclosures are required for each class of financial assets and liabilities, and disclosures about inputs and valuation techniques are required for both Levels 2 and Level 3 measurements. It further clarifies that the reconciliation of Level 3 measurements should separately present purchases, sales, issuances, and settlements instead of netting these changes. With respect to matters other than Level 3 measurements, the amendment was effective for periods beginning on or after December 15, 2009 and has not yet been adopted. The guidance related to Level 3 measurements is effective for periods beginning on or after December 15, 2010 and has not yet been adopted. We are currently evaluating the impact of the guidance on our disclosures.

Note 8: Participant-Directed Investments

In 2004, the Plan entered into a deposit contract with Reliance Trust Company (Reliance). Reliance maintains the contributions in mutual funds as directed by the participants. The account is credited with actual earnings on the mutual funds as well as any changes in market value and charged for Plan withdrawals. The assets are included in the financial statements at the March 31, 2010 and 2009 current values as reported to the Plan by Reliance.

The Plan provides two investment programs that participants may choose from. The self-guided option allows the participants to determine their savings and allocate their contributions between the investments in any manner they choose. The second program, called MainSpring, authorizes StanCrop Investment Advisors, for a fee, to manage investment decisions and advise on salary deferrals based upon personal criteria provided by the participant.

The Company paid the monthly MainSpring fee of $10 per participant during the year ended March 31, 2009. Effective April 1, 2009, the Company ceased paying the monthly MainSpring fee on behalf of those participating in the advisory option that have over two years of participation in the Plan. Subsequently, all fees will be taken out of participating participant accounts.

Note 9: Subsequent Events

Subsequent Events

The Plan Administrator has evaluated subsequent events through November 10, 2010, the date financial statements were available to be issued.

Effective April 1, 2010, the Plan was amended to allow for participants to modify salary deferral options on the first day of the Plan quarter. Previously, participants were able to modify salary deferral options semi-annually. In addition, the Plan was amended to change the entry dates into the Plan from January 1st and July 1st to April 1st and October 1st.
