Independent Accountant's Review Report

To Management
General Micro Systems, Inc.
Rancho Cucamonga, California

We have reviewed the accompanying financial statements of General Micro Systems, Inc. (an S corporation), which comprises the balance sheet as of December 31, 2020, and the related statements of income, retained earnings and cash flows for the year then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements. A review includes primarily applying analytical procedures to management's financial data and making inquiries of Company management. A review is substantially less in scope than an audit, the objective of which is the expression of an opinion regarding the financial statements as a whole. Accordingly, we do not express such an opinion.

Management's Responsibility for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement whether due to fraud or error.

Accountant's Responsibility

Our responsibility is to conduct the review engagement in accordance with Statements on Standards for Accounting and Review Services promulgated by the Accounting and Review Services Committee of the AICPA. Those standards require us to perform procedures to obtain limited assurance as a basis for reporting whether we are aware of any material modifications that should be made to the financial statements for them to be in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. We believe that the results of our procedures provide a reasonable basis for our conclusion.

Accountant's Conclusion

Based on our review, we are not aware of any material modifications that should be made to the accompanying financial statements in order for them to be in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Supplementary Information

The supplementary information included in Schedule 1 is presented for purposes of additional analysis and is not a required part of the basic financial statements. The information is the representation of management. We have not audited or reviewed such information and, accordingly, we do not express an opinion, a conclusion, or provide any assurance on it.

1. Statement of business

General Micro Systems, Inc. ("The Company") was founded by Mr. Benjamin Sharfi in 1980 as a California corporation. The purpose of the business is to develop and manufacture computers, servers and various other hardware and software products for industrial, commercial and defense applications.

2. Summary of significant accounting policies

Basis of accounting

The financial statements of the Company have been prepared on the accrual basis of accounting in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Income taxes

The Company has elected to be taxed under the provisions of Subchapter S of the Internal Revenue Code. Under those provisions, the Company does not pay federal corporate income taxes on its taxable income. Instead, the stockholder is liable for individual federal and state income taxes on his respective share. The Company is liable for state franchise taxes and as such, records a provision for the state franchise tax.

The Company believes that their income tax filing positions will be sustained upon examination, and accordingly, have not recorded any reserves, or related accrual for interest and penalties, at December 31, 2020, for uncertain tax positions. The Company has a policy under which, if required to be recognized in the future, they will classify interest and related penalties in interest expense in the income statement. The Company believes it is no longer subject to United States federal and state income tax examinations for the years prior to 2017 and 2016, respectively.

Revenue recognition

The majority of the Company's revenue originates from the sale of hardware/software products and from services rendered in the development of those products. The recognition of these revenues are within the scope of ASC 606. Revenue is recognized at a point in time, as the Company satisfies its contractual obligations to its customers. For engineering and development services, revenue is recognized at various points in the development cycle based upon progress. For sales of products, the Company recognizes revenue when the goods are shipped. Revenues and associated accounts receivable, are recorded when the Company's performance obligation is satisfied. Revenue is recognized by the Company at the point the product is shipped, that is, FOB company. Revenue prices are set by the Company in the nonrecurring engineering contracts and in the production contracts. Development T&M (Time and Material) contracts set estimated prices for projects but allow for adjustments as the project progresses. Payment is usually due 30 days after invoicing.

The aggregate amount of contract performance obligation as of December 31, 2020 that is expected to be recognized as revenue in the next year is $35,000,000.

Cash

The Company, at times, in the ordinary course of business, maintains cash balances at financial institutions in excess of federally insured amounts. The Company does not anticipate any losses thereon. The risk is managed by maintaining all deposits in high quality financial institutions.

Accounts receivable

Accounts receivable is stated at the amount the Company expects to collect. The Company provides for probable uncollectible amounts through a charge to earnings and a credit to a valuation allowance based on its assessment of the current status of individual accounts receivable. Balances that are still outstanding after the Company has used reasonable collection efforts are written off through a charge to the valuation allowance and a credit to accounts receivable. For the year ended December 31, 2020, the valuation allowance is $281,335.

2. Summary of significant accounting policies (continued)

Inventories

Inventories are stated at the lower of cost and net realizable value. Cost is determined by using the last cost of inventory purchased.

The inventories as of December 31, 2020, consisted of the following:

Raw materials	$	1,825,379
Work in process		1,931,915
Finished goods		2,671,922
Total inventories	$	6,429,216

Property and equipment

The cost of leasehold improvements, equipment and automobiles is depreciated using the straight-line method over the estimated service lives of the assets. The lives of the assets vary from 5 to 39 years. The amount of depreciation for the year ended December 31, 2020 is $81,816.

Repairs and maintenance are charged to expense in the year incurred. Major improvements and new assets are capitalized and depreciated.

As of December 31, 2020, the Company was in the process of making some improvements to one of their office buildings which was completed in June of 2021 for a total cost of approximately $3,150,000.

Long-lived assets

Long-lived assets held and used by the Company are reviewed for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of an asset may not be recoverable. In the event that facts and circumstances indicate that the cost of any long-lived assets may be impaired, and evaluation of recoverability would be performed.

Fair value of financial instruments

The Company's financial instruments are cash, accounts receivable, accounts payable, notes payable and long-term debt. The recorded values of cash, accounts receivable and accounts payable approximate their fair values based on their short-term nature. The recorded values of notes payable and long-term debt approximate their values as interest approximates market rates.

Product warranties

The Company provides a standard one-year manufacturer's warranty from date of shipping covering proper operation of the products based on the product specifications. Customers additionally are allowed to purchase extended warranties up to an additional 36 months. In order to file a warranty claim, customers must obtain a Return Material Authorization (RMA) and ship the product to the Company. The Company will repair the product under warranty so long as the malfunction is due to normal wear. The Company will void the warranty if there are signs of physical damage or if it is noted that product was tampered with by the customer.

The Company accrues an estimate of its exposure to warranty claims based on both current and historical product sales data and warrant costs incurred. The Company assesses the adequacy of any liabilities annually and adjusts amounts as necessary. Based upon warranty requirements and limited historical returns, the Company believes any accrued costs are immaterial and as such have not recorded any corresponding liability.

2. Summary of significant accounting policies (continued)

Advertising and marketing

The Company advertises in various trade magazines and attends various trade shows. The total spent for advertising and marketing was $253,787.

Paycheck Protection Program ("PPP") loans

The Company has elected to account for PPP loans in accordance with ASC 470. As such, the loan will be recorded as a financial liability and interest accrued upon the loan until such time as the loan is, in whole or part, forgiven and the Company has been legally released or the loan has been paid off in full. If the loan is, in part or wholly, forgiven and legal release is received, the Company will reduce the liability by the amount forgiven and record a gain on extinguishment.

Use of estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires the Company to make certain estimates and assumptions that directly affect the results of reported amounts and disclosures. Actual results may differ from these estimates.

3. Provision for state franchise taxes

The deferred tax asset results from the temporary differences between financial statement income and taxable income as well as due to tax credits carryovers. The provision for income taxes is calculated as follows:

Change in franchise taxes - current	$	(16,099)
Changes in franchise taxes - deferred		27,237
Net provision for income taxes	$	11,138

As of December 31, 2020, the Company has an estimated state research credit carryover of $28,582.

4. Line of credit

The Company has a $5,000,000 variable rate revolving line of credit with City National Bank. The line is collateralized by all Company assets and personally guaranteed by Benjamin Sharfi, General Micro Systems East, Inc. and Byte Services, Inc. The line of credit matures on September 1, 2021. The line is subject to restrictive financial covenants relating to tangible net worth.

5. Long-term debt

The estimated annual maturities of long-term debt are as follows for each of the next five years ending December 31:

2021	$	-
2022		1,939,200
2023		-
2024		-
2025		-
Thereafter		-
Total	$	1,939,200

6. Commitments and contingencies-related and unrelated party

The Company has committed to lease commercial space under various long-term lease arrangements, most of which are ten year leases spanning as far as 2029. Included in the leases is a long-term lease with Benjamin Sharfi, who is the sole shareholder. Annual rent paid to the shareholder was $523,200 and the expiration date of the lease is December 2028. Base rent shall be $43,600 per month with annual adjustments calculated by multiplying the base rent by the annual change in the Consumer Price Index or 3%, whichever is greater. There is an option to renew at the end of the lease period. Minimum lease payments for the next five years are summarized below:

	Commerical Space
2021	$ 1,594,626
2022	1,590,987
2023	1,621,453
2024	1,661,420
2025	1,702,587
Thereafter	5,799,432
Total	$ 13,970,505

7. Pension and profit sharing plans

The Company has implemented a deferred compensation pension and profit-sharing program under section 401(k) of the Internal Revenue Code. The program includes the Company matching, at the employer's discretion and the employee's voluntary contributions to the extent of 6% of eligible compensation. There is no matching contribution payable for the profit sharing program as December 31, 2020.

8. Concentration of credit risk

The Company has many customers but a few major customers make up the majority of accounts receivable. While its credit risk for these receivables is therefore concentrated, those receivables are normally collected within 45 days, and based on its assessment of current conditions, management believes realization losses on accounts outstanding at year-end will be immaterial aside from the bad debt recognized for $281,335. Accordingly, accounts receivable are reported at the amount the Company expects to collect.

9. Concentrations

The Company had three major customers in 2020. Total revenue to these customers accounted for 39% of total revenue and 51% of accounts receivable. Additionally, one separate customer accounted for 18.8% of the total accounts receivable as of December 31, 2020 representing a concentration of credit risk.

10. Related parties

The Company occasionally engages the services of General Micro Systems East, Inc., a company related through common ownership. The Company expensed $25,500,000 for testing fees, engineering, sales, and marketing and promotion to General Micro Systems East, Inc. Accrued commissions also included $15,225,859 to General Micro Systems East, Inc. Byte Services, Inc., a guarantor, is another company related through common ownership. General Micro Systems East, Inc. is owned by the 100% shareholder of General Micro Systems, Inc., Benjamin Sharfi. Also, included in the salaries, spread to various departments, is a total of $214,668 paid to Benjamin Sharfi, the 100% shareholder. In addition, the Company expensed $523,200 to Benjamin Sharfi for rent of commercial space of which $261,600 is included in accrued expenses.

11. Subsequent events

As a result of the COVID-19 outbreak, including voluntary and mandatory quarantines, travel and other restrictions, the Company's operations, and those of its customers and suppliers, have and are anticipated to continue to experience delays or disruptions and temporary suspensions of operations. In addition, the Company's operations were adversely affected due to supply chain delays which affected production and shipping. The related impact and duration of these delays, cannot be reasonably estimated at this time.

Management has evaluated subsequent events through August 10, 2021, the date on which the financial statements were available to be issued.
