To: Gordon Gilbert, SVP, Dede Goodwin, Director of Human Resources, Denise McGee, Plan Administrator and Management of Cornerstone Mortgage Company 401(k) Plan

Except as discussed in the following paragraph, in planning and performing our audit of the financial statements of Cornerstone Mortgage Company 401(k) Plan as of and for the year ended December 21, 2010, in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, we considered Cornerstone Mortgage Company 401(k) Plan's internal control over financial reporting (internal control) as a basis for designing our auditing procedures for the purpose of issuing our report on the financial statements, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Plan's internal control. Accordingly, we do not express an opinion on the effectiveness of the Plan's internal control.

We were engaged to perform a DOL limited-scope audit of those financial statements as permitted by 29 CFR 2520.103-8 of the Department of Labor's Rules and Regulations for Reporting and Disclosure under the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974. Our audit did not include all of the procedures required by auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America and did not include a consideration of internal control relating to the information summarized in Note I to those financial statements. Because of the significance of the information that we did not audit, we were unable to, and did not, express an opinion on those financial statements.

Our consideration of internal control was for the limited purpose described in the preceding paragraphs and was not designed to identify all deficiencies in internal control that might be significant deficiencies or material weaknesses and, therefore, there can be no assurance that all such deficiencies have been identified. However, as discussed below, we identified certain deficiencies in internal control that we consider to be significant deficiencies.

A deficiency in internal control exists when the design or operation of a control does not allow management or employees, in the normal course of performing their assigned functions, to prevent, or detect and correct misstatements on a timely basis. A material weakness is a deficiency, or combination of deficiencies in internal control, such that there is a reasonable possibility that a material misstatement of the Plan's financial statements will not be prevented, or detected and corrected on a timely basis. We did not identify any deficiencies in internal control that we consider to be material weaknesses.

A significant deficiency is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control that is less severe than a material weakness, yet important enough to merit attention by those charged with governance. We consider the following deficiencies in Cornerstone Mortgage Company 401(k) Plan's internal controls to be significant:

During our audit, we noted that employee personnel files were often incomplete. In particular, there were several instances of recent pay increases that were not documented in the files, and some forms to support the current deferral authorizations of employees were missing. In some cases, the documentation was located in alternate email records and located upon request. Management may wish to implement and enforce procedures, such as checklists, to ensure that all documents that should be included in personnel files are properly scanned to the files. Standardization of forms, such as pay raise authorizations, could be advantageous. Notices of changes in employee deferral elections received from Ascensus should be retained. A master list of personnel file documentation exceptions could be maintained, to facilitate tracking and resolution of open items. Proper documentation of employee compensation and deferral elections would help ensure that employees defer as elected based on correct earnings, and receive the correct employer match.

During the audit, we also noted that the total designated employee contributions forwarded to the Plan by wire transfer during 2010 appeared to exceed employee contributions withheld from payroll according to ADP records by more than $58,000. Although our testing indicated that employee contributions withheld from payroll reconciled to amounts credited to the participant Plan accounts for the individual employees sampled, we were unable to reconcile the discrepancy on a gross basis. We also noted that one employee appeared to receive $97 less in his Plan account than was withheld from his payroll compensation during 2010. Management may wish to implement procedures using quarterly Plan statements to test the reconciliation of employee and employer contributions between Company and Plan records, to help ensure that participants receive the correct allocations to their individual Plan accounts.

In at least one instance, we noted that an employee that transferred among different companies during the year exceeded the $16,500 statutory limit on employee contributions. The excess contributions had to be returned to the employee through a corrective distribution. Management should consider whether the ADP payroll system can be programmed to recognize when an employee who works for more than one Cornerstone entity during a plan year reaches the contribution limit.

This communication is intended solely for the information and use of management of the Plan, and others within the Plan, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.

October 11, 2010

To: Gordon Gilbert, SVP, Dede Goodwin, Director of Human Resources, Denise McGee, Plan Administrator and Management of Cornerstone Mortgage Company 401(k) Plan

We have conducted a DOL limited-scope audit of the financial statements of Cornerstone Mortgage Company 401(k) Plan for the year ended December 31, 2010 and have issued our report thereon dated October 11, 2011. As permitted by 29 CR 2520.103-8 of the Department of Labor's Rules and Regulations for Reporting and Disclosure under the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, the plan administrator instructed us not to perform, and we did not perform, any auditing procedures with respect to the information summarized in Note I to those financial statements. Because of the significance of the information that we did not audit, we are unable to, and have not, expressed an opinion on those financial statements and schedules taken as a whole. Professional standards require that we provide you with information about our responsibilities under generally accepted auditing standards, as well as certain information related to the planned scope and timing of our audit. We have communicated such information in our letter to you dated October 11, 2011. Professional standards also require that we communicate to you the following information related to our audit:

Significant Audit Findings

Qualitative Aspects of Accounting Practices

Management is responsible for the selection and use of appropriate accounting policies. The significant accounting policies used by Cornerstone Mortgage Company 401(k) Plan are described in Note B to the financial statements. We noted no transactions entered into by the Plan during the year for which there is a lack of authoritative guidance or consensus. All significant transactions have been recognized in the financial statements in the proper period.

Accounting estimates are an integral part of the financial statements prepared by management and are based on management's knowledge and experience about past and current events and assumptions about future events. Certain accounting estimates are particularly sensitive because of their significance to the financial statements and because of the possibility that future events affecting them may differ significantly from those expected. The most sensitive estimates affecting the financial statements were First National Bank of Omaha's fair value measurements for which we have not expressed an opinion, as described above. Fair value measurements are based on the techniques described in Note D, Fair Value Measurements.

Certain financial statement disclosures are particularly sensitive because of their significance to financial statement users. None of the financial disclosures were deemed to require further discussion in regards to their clarity.

Difficulties Encountered in Performing the Audit

We encountered no significant difficulties in dealing with management in performing and completing our audit.

Corrected and Uncorrected Misstatements

Professional standards require us to accumulate all known and likely misstatements identified during the audit, other than those that are trivial, and communicate them to the appropriate level of management. Our audit did not identify any known and likely misstatements.

Disagreements with Management

For purposes of this letter, professional standards define a disagreement with management as a financial accounting, reporting, or auditing matter, whether or not resolved to our satisfaction, that could be significant to the financial statements or the auditor's report. We are pleased to report that no such disagreements arose during the course of our audit.

Management Representations

We have requested certain representations from management that are included in the management representation letter dated October 11, 2010.

Management Consultations with Other Independent Accountants

In some cases, management may decide to consult with other accountants about auditing and accounting matters, similar to obtaining a "second opinion" on certain situations. If a consultation involves application of an accounting principle to the Plan's financial statements or a determination of the type of auditor's opinion that may be expressed on those statements, our professional standards require the consulting accountant to check with us to determine that the consultant has all the relevant facts. To our knowledge, there were no such consultations with other accountants.

Other Audit Findings or Issues

We generally discuss a variety of matters, including the application of accounting principles and auditing standards, with management each year prior to retention as the Plan's auditors. However, these discussions occurred in the normal course of our professional relationship and our responses were not a condition to our retention.

This information is intended solely for the use of Gordon Gilbert, SVP, Dede Goodwin, Director of Human Resources, Denise McGee, Plan Administrator and other Management of Cornerstone Mortgage Company 401(k) Plan and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.

Very truly yours,
