NOTE A BASIS OF PRESENTATION AND SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The RUS Industrial, LLC 401(k) Plan (the Plan) was adopted effective January 1, 2013 to establish a savings and investment plan for the exclusive benefit of the employees of RUS Industrial, LLC (the Company and Plan Administrator) and their beneficiaries. The Plan is a defined contribution plan and is subject to the provisions of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (ERISA).

Basis of Presentation - The financial statements of the Plan are prepared on the accrual basis of accounting in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles in the United States (GAAP). Interest and dividend income are recognized when earned.

Estimates - The preparation of financial statements in conformity with GAAP requires the Plan Administrator to make estimates and assumptions that affect certain reported amounts and disclosures. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Risks and Uncertainties - The Plan provides for several investment options which are exposed to various risks, such as interest rate, market and credit risks. Due to the level of risk associated with certain investment securities and the level of uncertainty related to changes in the value of investment securities, it is at least reasonably possible that changes in risks in the near term could materially affect participants' account balances and the amounts reported in the statement of net assets available for plan benefits and the statement of changes in net assets available for plan benefits.

Valuation of Investments - Investments are reported at fair value. Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. In accordance with the policy of stating investments at fair value, net investment gain or loss is included in the carrying value of related investments in the statement of net assets available for plan benefits and the changes in the net investment gain or loss are reflected in the statement of changes in net assets available for plan benefits.

The investment contracts included in the common/collective trust fund are presented at fair value on the statements of net assets available for benefits. The investments in fully benefit-responsive investment contracts are stated at contract value which is equal to the principal balance plus accrued interest. An investment contract is generally valued at contract value, rather than fair value, to the extent it is fully benefit-responsive. The fair value of fully benefit responsive investment contracts is based on the fair value of the underlying securities within the fund, which represents the net asset value of shares held by the plan at year end. At December 31, 2013, contract value approximated fair value.

NOTE A BASIS OF PRESENTATION AND SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES (CONTINUED)

Benefit-Responsive Fund - The JP Morgan Chase Stable Asset Income Fund invests primarily in investment contracts that are fully benefit-responsive and provide that Plan participant-initiated withdrawals permitted under the Plan will be paid at contract value. These investment contracts have two components: (1) a portfolio of securities or underlying assets and (2) a wrap contract. Pursuant to the contract, the issuer of the contract (wrap provider) undertakes to repay the principal amount deposited plus accrued interest less expenses to fund participant-directed withdrawals, transfers and loans. The crediting rate of the investment contract is a function of the relationship between the market value, yield and duration of the underlying assets versus the contract value. If the positive adjustment for the portion of net assets attributable to fully benefit-responsive investment contracts from fair value to contract value increases, the crediting rate at the next reset date will be negatively impacted and vice versa. Interest rate change is a key factor that can influence future crediting rates because it impacts the value, yield and duration of the underlying securities.

The net weighted average yield earned, which is different from the interest rate credited to participants, by the entire fund was 1.77% for the year ended December 31, 2013. The net weighted interest rate credited to participants in the funds was 1.25% for the year ended December 31, 2013.

Investment contracts held by JP Morgan Asset Management are fully participating contracts. In a fully participating contract, the asset and liability risks may be transferred from the wrap provider to the JP Morgan Asset Management in the event of a termination or non-participant directed withdrawal, transfer or loan, or the occurrence of certain contract-specific termination provisions. The risk of these events happening is not probable.

Federal Income Tax - The Company adopted a prototype non-standardized profit sharing plan (the "Prototype Plan") with a deferral arrangement. The Prototype Plan received a favorable opinion letter from the Internal Revenue Service on March 31, 2008, which stated that the Prototype Plan and related trust constitutes a qualified trust under Section 401(b) of the Internal Revenue Code and is therefore, exempt from federal income taxes. The Plan has been amended since receiving the favorable opinion letter. However, the Plan Administrator believes the Plan is currently designed and being operated in compliance with the applicable requirements of the Internal Revenue Code. Accordingly, the Plan Administrator believes the Plan was qualified and the related trust was tax-exempt as of December 31, 2013.

The Plan believes that all significant tax positions utilized by the Plan will more likely than not be sustained upon examination. 2013 is the tax year that remains subject to examination by the major tax jurisdictions under the statute of limitations. Tax penalties and interest, if any, would be accrued as incurred and would be classified as tax expense in the statement of changes in net assets available for plan benefits.

Subsequent Events - The Plan has evaluated subsequent events through October 10, 2014, the date the financial statements were available to be issued. No subsequent events occurred, which require adjustment or disclosure to the financial statements at December 31, 2013.

NOTE B PLAN DESCRIPTION

The following description of the Plan provides only general information about the Plan. Participants should refer to the Plan document for a more complete description of the Plan's provisions.

Participation - An employee is eligible to become a participant in the Plan having attained the age of 21 and after completing six months of service with entry on the first day of each quarter (January 1, April 1, July 1 and October 1).

Contributions - Participants may elect to make contributions to the Plan in an annual amount ranging from 0% to 100% of their compensation. Contributions are made through authorized payroll reductions. These contributions by individual employees are limited to $17,500 in 2013. This limitation is adjusted periodically to reflect cost-of-living increases. Participants who have attained age 50 before the end of the Plan year are eligible to make catch-up contributions ($5,500 for 2013).

During 2013, the Company contributed a safe harbor matching contribution equal to 100% of the elective deferral that does not exceed 3% of compensation, plus 50% of the elective deferral that exceeds 3% of compensation but does not exceed 5% of compensation. The Company may also make an additional discretionary contribution, in an amount determined solely at the discretion of the managing body of the Company. Such additional discretionary contributions, if any, are allocated pro rata to all participants who fulfill the participation eligibility requirements at the Plan year end based upon the proportion of the participant's compensation to the total compensation of all eligible participants. There was no additional discretionary contribution for the year ended December 31, 2013.

Vesting - A participant is immediately fully vested with respect to all portions of their account.

Forms of Benefits - Distributions from the Plan will generally be made in one lump-sum payment. If the amount payable is less than $1,000, the participant's vested account balance will be directly rolled over as soon as practical after notice to the participant into an individual retirement account maintained by an entity selected by the Company. If the amount payable is greater than $1,000, the participant must give written consent before the distribution can be made. A participant can also elect to take an installment distribution, only if the participant is subject to required minimum distributions upon reaching age 70 ½. A participant may be eligible for in-service distributions upon reaching age 59 ½.

Participant Loans - Participants may borrow from their fund accounts a minimum of $1,000 up to a maximum equal to the lesser of $50,000 of 50% of their vested account balance. Loan transactions are treated as a transfer between investment funds and participant loans receivable. The loans are secured by the balance in the participant's account and bear interest at a rate commensurate with prevailing rates. Interest rate on loans outstanding at December 31, 2013 was 4.25%. Principal and interest is typically paid ratably through payroll deductions.

If a participant fails to make required payments in accordance to the terms of the loan agreement, the loan will be in default and the unpaid balance becomes a deemed distributions. Deemed distributions amounted to $1,565 in 2013.

Plan Termination - The Company has the right under the Plan to terminate the Plan subject to provisions set forth in ERISA.

NOTE D FAIR VALUE DISCLOSURES

GAAP provides a framework for measuring fair value using a hierarchy that prioritizes the inputs to valuation techniques used to measure fair value based upon whether the inputs to those valuation techniques are observable or unobservable. This hierarchy gives the highest priority to unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical financial instruments and the lowest priority to unobservable inputs. Valuation techniques maximize the use of observable inputs and minimize the use of unobservable inputs. The financial instrument's fair value measurement level within the fair value hierarchy is based on the lowest level of any input that is significant to the fair value measurement. These inputs are summarized in the three broad levels listed below:

Level 1 – Inputs to the valuation methodology are unadjusted quoted prices for identical assets or liabilities in active markets that the Plan has the ability to access.

Level 2 – Other significant observable inputs (including quoted prices in active or inactive markets for similar financial instruments), or other inputs that are observable or can be corroborated by observable market data for substantially the full term of the assets or liabilities.

Level 3 – Unobservable inputs that are supported by little or no market activity and that are significant to the fair value of the assets or liabilities. Level 3 assets and liabilities include financial instruments whose value is determined using pricing models, discounted cash flow methodologies, or similar techniques, as well as instruments for which the determination of fair value requires significant management judgment or estimation.

Following is a description of the valuation methodologies used for investments measured at fair value. There have been no changes in the methodologies used during fiscal 2013.

Registered investment companies are valued at the net asset value of shares held by the Plan at year end.

The fair value of the investment in the common/collective trust is determined by the fund's trustee based on the fair value of the underlying securities within the fund, which represents the net asset value of shares held by the Plan at year end.

The preceding methods described may produce a fair value calculation that may not be indicative of net realizable value or reflective of future fair values. Furthermore, although the plan believes its valuation methods are appropriate and consistent with other market participants, the use of different methodologies or assumptions to determine the fair value of certain financial instruments could result in a different fair value measurement at the reporting date.
