Schedule SB, Part V – Statement of Actuarial Assumptions/Methods

a. Mortality: The 2025 Static Mortality Tables were used for the period after retirement age. The optional combined tables for small plans were used, separately for male and female lives.

b. Interest: Benefits were discounted by 5.00% (first segment rate) for payments expected from January 1, 2025 – December 31, 2029, by 5.27% (second segment rate) for payments expected from January 1, 2030 – December 31, 2044, and by 5.50% (third segment rate) for payments expected on or after January 1, 2045. These are the Segment Rates prescribed by IRC Section 430(h)(2)(C).

c. Salary Scale: 3.00% per annum.

d. Severance of Employment: No discount for severance of employment was included in the determination of costs and liabilities.

e. Assumed Retirement Age: It was assumed that all active employees would retire at their Normal Retirement Age, or in one year if at or past Normal Retirement Age. Terminated employees were assumed to retire immediately, if at or beyond Normal Retirement Age.

f. Disability Retirement: No discount for disability retirement was included in the determination of costs and liabilities.

g. Form of Benefit Payment: It was assumed that there would be a 100% probability of electing lump sum payments.

h. Actuarial Value of Asset Valuation Method: The fair market value of assets was used.

i. Expenses: The Target Normal Cost was increased by $-0- to reflect anticipated expenses to be paid from the plan in the current year.

j. Actuarial Cost Method: The method prescribed by IRC Section 430 was used which determines a minimum required contribution equal to the sum of the plan's Target Normal Cost for the plan year, plus a Shortfall Amortization charge [if any] and Waiver Amortization charge [if any] of a prior funding deficiency.

k. Interest Crediting Rate: For principal credits accrued prior to 2023, the assumed interest crediting rate is based on average applicable rate during the current and last 4 plan years [or since plan inception, if less], which was 3.23% for the Partners and 3.91% for non-partners. Principal Credits earned by Partners after 2022 will earn 1.00%, while the Principal Credits earned by non-partners will earn 3.00%.

l. Participants Included: It was assumed that employees who satisfied eligibility requirements by the July 1 entry date would be included for valuation purposes.
