INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

To the Trustees
AOL Savings Plan

We were engaged to audit the accompanying statements of net assets available for benefits of AOL Savings Plan as of December 31, 2010 and 2009, and the related statements of changes in net assets available for benefits for the year ended December 31, 2010 and for the period from December 3, 2009 (Inception) through December 31, 2009 and the schedules of assets (held at end of year) as of December 31, 2010 and 2009. These financial statements and supplemental schedules are the responsibility of the Plan's management.

As permitted by 29 CFR 2520.103-8 of the Department of Labor's Rules and Regulations for Reporting and Disclosure under the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, the Plan administrator instructed us not to perform, and we did not perform, any auditing procedures with respect to the information summarized in note 4, which was certified by Fidelity Management Trust Company, the custodian of the Plan, except for comparing such information with the related information included in the financial statements and supplemental schedules. We have been informed by the Plan administrator that the custodian holds the Plan's investment assets and executes investment transactions. The Plan administrator has obtained certifications from the custodian as of December 31, 2009, and for the period from December 3, 2009 (Inception) through December 31, 2009 and as of December 31, 2010 and for the year then ended, that the information provided to the Plan administrator by the custodian is complete and accurate.

Because of the significance of the information that we did not audit, we are unable to, and do not, express an opinion on the accompanying financial statements and the schedules of assets (held at end of year) taken as a whole. The form and content of the information included in the financial statements and the schedules of assets (held at end of year), other than that derived from the information certified by the custodian, have been audited by us in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America and, in our opinion, are presented in compliance with the Department of Labor's Rules and Regulations for Reporting and Disclosure under the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

December 31, 2010 and 2009

NOTE 1 - PLAN DESCRIPTION

The following description of the AOL Savings Plan (The Plan) provides only general information. Participants should refer to the Plan agreement for a more complete description of the Plan's provisions.

General

The Plan was established on December 3, 2009 and was most recently amended on January 1, 2011. The Plan is a defined contribution plan covering all employees except if the employee is a resident of Puerto Rico, a leased employee, an independent contractor, nonresident aliens and employees covered by a collective bargaining agreement. Once an employee becomes a participant they are immediately eligible to participate in the Plan.

Participant Contributions

Each year, participants may contribute the lesser of 75% of pretax annual eligible compensation or an amount limited by the Internal Revenue Code (IRC) in a calendar year, as defined in the Plan. The Plan also contains automatic enrollment of 3% which will be deducted from the eligible employees pay on a pre-tax basis. When a participant is automatically enrolled the deferral contribution rate will increase by 1% each year until it reaches the maximum of 6% of the participant's contributions. Participants may also elect to defer a whole percentage from 1% to 100% of any bonus compensation, however, the total bonus and regular deferrals may not exceed 75% of the participant's eligible compensation. Participants age 50 or older by the end of the Plan year are permitted to make catch-up contributions to the Plan.

Employer Contributions

The Plan Sponsor may make discretionary matching contributions to the Plan. During 2010 and 2009, the discretionary matching contribution was 50% of participant contributions up to 6% of the participant's eligible compensation per pay period, limited to defined amounts by the IRC.

During 2010, the Plan was amended to include a "true-up" contribution. The Plan Sponsor also contributes an additional amount, as a "true-up" contribution, to the extent necessary to ensure that the aggregate amount of matching contributions for the year is equal to the lesser of (i) the sum of 3 percent of each participant's eligible compensation, or (ii) 50 percent of each participant's contributions.

December 31, 2010 and 2009

The Plan Sponsor may make discretionary nonelective contributions in the amount to be determined by the Board of Directors for each plan year. Discretionary nonelective contributions, if any, made to the Plan by the Employer will be allocated to the Participant's account in the ratio that the Participants eligible compensation bears to the total eligible compensation paid to all eligible Participants.

Participant Accounts

Individual accounts are maintained for each participant and includes each participant's salary deferral and rollover contributions, plus an allocation of employer contributions, plan earnings, and realized and unrealized gains and losses on investments. Participants are afforded several investment options covering a wide range of investment objectives and risks. Participants may allocate their contributions across these options in any proportion they wish, and can change this allocation at any time. Transfer of account balances between elected investment options may also be made at any time.

Vesting

Participants are immediately vested in their contributions, plus actual earnings thereon. For purposes of determining the vesting of the company's discretionary employer matching contribution of their accounts plus actual earnings, the vesting schedule is as follows:

Years of service	Vesting percentage
Less than 2	0%
2 years but less than 3 years	33%
3 years but less than 4 years	66%
4 years or more	100%

Vesting percentages for prior employer contributions may be subject to different vesting schedules as defined in the plan document.

Investment Options

Upon enrollment in the Plan, a participant may direct the investments of their accounts in one-percent increments in various investment options. In addition, participants have the option to make contributions to a self-directed brokerage account. Under the self-directed brokerage account, participants may direct investments in any security or other investment offered by Fidelity, regardless of whether they are included as investments options offered by the Plan.

Participant Notes Receivable

Participants may borrow from their fund accounts a minimum of $1,000, up to a maximum of $50,000 reduced by the participant's highest outstanding note balance during the twelve month period. Up to one half of their vested account balance may be used as collateral. Note terms range from one to five years or up to 10 years for the purchase of a primary residence. The notes are secured by the balance in the participant's account and bear interest at a rate commensurate with local prevailing rates, ranging from 4.25% to 10.50%, as determined quarterly by the Plan administrator. A participant may only have two notes outstanding at any given time. Principal and interest is paid ratably through payroll deductions.

Payment of Benefits

Upon termination of employment, a participant (or designated beneficiary) may elect to receive an amount equal to the value of the vested interest in their account. The Plan allows for distributions upon termination of service, death, disability, attainment of age 59 1/2 or in certain hardship situations. A participant may elect to receive a lump sum payment or may roll over the value of their account into another qualified plan. In the event a participant terminates or retires and the participant's vested account balance is less than $1,000, the balance will either be rolled into an Individual Retirement Account (IRA) or paid out as a lump sum distribution at the discretion of the Company.

NOTE 2 - SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The financial statements of the Plan, have been prepared in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America as applied to employee benefit plans in accordance with the terms of the Trust Agreement. A summary of the significant accounting policies consistently applied in the preparation of the accompanying financial statements follows.

Basis of Accounting

The financial statements of the Plan are prepared using the accrual method of accounting in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Investment Valuation and Income Recognition

The Plan's investments are stated at fair value. Shares of registered investment companies (mutual funds) and self-directed brokerage accounts are valued at quoted market prices, which represent the net asset value of shares held by the Plan at year-end. The contract value of participation units owned in the fully benefit-responsive Prudential Stable Value Fund, a synthetic guaranteed investment contract (SGIC), are based on net asset values, as determined by the Trustee, on the last business day of the Plan year. The fair value of the participation units is based on the fair value of the underlying assets.

The methods described above may produce a fair value calculation that may not be indicative of net realizable value or reflective of future fair values. Furthermore, while the Plan believes its valuation methods are appropriate and consistent with other market participants, the use of different methodologies or assumptions to determine the fair value of certain financial instruments could result in a different fair value measurement at the reporting date.

Purchases and sales of securities are recorded on a trade-date basis. Net appreciation in the fair value of investments consists of the realized gains or losses and unrealized appreciation (depreciation) on those investments. Dividends are recorded on the ex-dividend date.

The accounting guidance for fully benefit-responsive investment contracts requires investment contracts held by a defined contribution plan to be reported at fair value. However, contract value is the relevant measurement attribute for that portion of the net assets available for benefits of a defined contribution plan attributable to fully benefit-responsive investment contracts because contract value is the amount participants would receive if they were to initiate permitted transactions under the terms of the Plan. As required by the guidance, the statement of net assets available for benefits presents the fair value of the investment contracts as well as the adjustment of the fully benefit-responsive investment contracts from fair value to contract value. The statement of changes in net assets available for benefits is prepared on a contract value basis.

The Plan's investments in the Prudential Stable Value Fund, which is a fully benefit-responsive SGIC and common collective trust whose underlying investments are GICs, are recorded at fair value (see Note 3); however, since they are fully benefit-responsive, an adjustment is reflected in the statements of net assets available for benefits to present the investments at contract value. Contract value is the relevant measurement attributable to fully benefit-responsive investment contracts because contract value is the amount participants would receive if they were to initiate permitted transactions under the terms of the Plan. Contract value represents contributions made under the contract, plus earnings, less participant withdrawals and fees. Except for events which may result in termination for cause, including, but not limited to, plan termination or merger, early retirement incentive, and layoffs, the issuer may not cause the contract to be terminated at an amount other than contract value. The Plan does not believe that the occurrence of any event limiting the Plans' ability to transact at contract value is probable.

Interest is credited on contract balances using a single "portfolio rate" approach. Under this methodology, a single interest crediting rate is applied to all contributions made to the product regardless of the timing of those contributions. Interest crediting rates are reviewed on a quarterly basis for resetting. The minimum crediting rate is 0%. The average earnings yield of the Prudential Stable Fund was approximately 2.76% and 3.44% at December 31, 2010 and 2009, respectively. The average yield credited to participants was approximately 2.99% and 3.14% at December 31, 2010 and 2009, respectively. The average earnings yield differs from the average yield credited to participants as a result of the fund construction which utilizes contract value crediting rates that are intended to smooth out and blend in earnings yields over time.

Participant Notes Receivable

Participant notes are measured at their unpaid principal balances plus any accrued but unpaid interest. Delinquent participant notes are reclassified as distributions based upon the terms of the plan document.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent asset and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenue and expense during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Payment of Benefits

Benefits payments to participants are recorded upon distribution.

AOL Savings Plan

December 31, 2010 and 2009

Forfeited Accounts

Under the Plan agreement, forfeited nonvested accounts are used to reduce employer contributions and pay administrative expenses. At December 31, 2010 and 2009 $2,234,482 and $95,384 remains unallocated and eligible to reduce employer contributions and pay administrative expenses in future years, respectively. The 2010 “true up” contribution of $945,376 was funded out of the forfeiture account in 2011, and is therefore, not recorded as a employer contribution receivable as of December 31, 2010.

Risks and Uncertainties

The Plan invests in various investment securities. Investment securities are exposed to various risks such as interest rate, market and credit risks. Due to the level of risk associated with certain investment securities, it is at least reasonably possible that changes in the values of investment securities will occur in the near term and that such changes could materially affect participants’ account balances and the amounts reported in the statements of net assets available for benefits.

Recent Accounting Pronouncements

In September 2010, the FASB issued Accounting Standards Update (ASU) No. 2010-25, “Reporting Loans to Participants by Defined Contributions Pension Plans” (ASU 2010-25) in order to clarify how notes to participants should be classified and measured by defined contribution pension plans. The amendment to the account guidance requires that participant loans be classified as notes receivable from participants, which are segregated from plan investments and measured at their unpaid principal balance plus any accrued but unpaid interest. The Plan adopted ASU 2010-25 for the year ended December 31, 2010 and the period ended December 31, 2009. The adoption of ASU 2010-25 did not have a material impact on the Plan’s financial statements.

Subsequent Events

Events that occur after the balance sheet date but before the financial statements were issued must be evaluated for recognition or disclosure. The effects of subsequent events that provide evidence about conditions that existed at the balance sheet date are recognized in the accompanying financial statements. Subsequent events which provide evidence about conditions that existed after the balance sheet date require disclosure in the accompanying notes. Management evaluated the activity through October 17, 2011 and concluded that no subsequent events have occurred that would require recognition in the financial statements or disclosure in the notes to the financial statements.

NOTE 3 - FAIR VALUE

The accounting standard for the fair value measurement and disclosures requires the categorization of assets and liabilities into three levels based upon the assumption (inputs) used to value the assets or liabilities. Level 1 provides the most reliable measure of fair value whereas Level 3 generally requires signification management judgment.

The standard describes three levels of inputs that may be used to measure fair value:

Level 1 - Inputs to the valuation methodology are quoted prices available in active markets for identical investments as of the reporting date;

Level 2 - Inputs to the valuation methodology are other than quoted prices in active markets, which are either directly or indirectly observable and fair value can be determined through the use of models or other valuation methodologies; and

Level 3 - Inputs to the valuation methodology are unobservable inputs in situations where there is little or no market activity for the asset or liability and the reporting entity makes estimates and assumptions related to the pricing of the asset or liability including assumptions regarding risk.

The following table sets forth by level, within the fair value hierarchy, the Plan's investments at fair value as of December 31, 2010:

Assets measured at fair value on a recurring basis:	Fair value at	Level 1	Level 2	Level 3

NOTE 6 - PLAN TERMINATION

Although it has not expressed any intent to do so, the Plan Sponsor has the right to discontinue their matching contributions at any time and to terminate the Plan subject to the provisions of ERISA. In the event of plan termination, participating employees will become 100% vested in their accounts.

NOTE 7 - INCOME TAX STATUS

On March 31, 2008, the Internal Revenue Service stated that the prototype adopted by the Plan, as then designed, qualifies under section 401(a) of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC). The Plan has not received a determination letter specific to the Plan itself; however, the Plan administrator and the Plan's tax counsel believe that the Plan was designed and was being operated in compliance with the applicable requirements of the IRC. Additionally, the Plan has been amended since receiving the opinion letter; however, the Plan administrator and the Plan's tax counsel that the Plan is currently designed and being operated in compliance with the applicable requirements of the IRC. Therefore, no provision for income taxes has been included in the Plan's financial statements.

NOTE 8 - OPERATIONAL ERROR

During 2010, management identified eligible compensation was not being administered in accordance with the plan document. As a result, there were missed employee deferrals. Management intends to correct by restoring 50% of the missed employees' deferrals and lost earnings and interest thereon. Based on management's calculation, 50% of the missed employees' deferrals amounted to approximately $200,000 as of December 31, 2010. This amount is included in employer contributions receivable as of December 31, 2010.

AOL Savings Plan

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

December 31, 2010 and 2009

NOTE 1 - PLAN DESCRIPTION

The following description of the AOL Savings Plan (The Plan) provides only general information. Participants should refer to the Plan agreement for a more complete description of the Plan's provisions.

General

The Plan was established on December 3, 2009 and was most recently amended on January 1, 2011. The Plan is a defined contribution plan covering all employees except if the employee is a resident of Puerto Rico, a leased employee, an independent contractor, nonresident aliens and employees covered by a collective bargaining agreement. Once an employee becomes a participant they are immediately eligible to participate in the Plan.

Participant Contributions

Each year, participants may contribute the lesser of 75% of pretax annual eligible compensation or an amount limited by the Internal Revenue Code (IRC) in a calendar year, as defined in the Plan. The Plan also contains automatic enrollment of 3% which will be deducted from the eligible employees pay on a pre-tax basis. When a participant is automatically enrolled the deferral contribution rate will increase by 1% each year until it reaches the maximum of 6% of the participant's contributions. Participants may also elect to defer a whole percentage from 1% to 100% of any bonus compensation, however, the total bonus and regular deferrals may not exceed 75% of the participant's eligible compensation. Participants age 50 or older by the end of the Plan year are permitted to make catch-up contributions to the Plan.

Employer Contributions

The Plan Sponsor may make discretionary matching contributions to the Plan. During 2010 and 2009, the discretionary matching contribution was 50% of participant contributions up to 6% of the participant's eligible compensation per pay period, limited to defined amounts by the IRC.

During 2010, the Plan was amended to include a "true-up" contribution. The Plan Sponsor also contributes an additional amount, as a "true-up" contribution, to the extent necessary to ensure that the aggregate amount of matching contributions for the year is equal to the lesser of (i) the sum of 3 percent of each participant's eligible compensation, or (ii) 50 percent of each participant's contributions.

AOL Savings Plan

December 31, 2010 and 2009

The Plan Sponsor may make discretionary nonelective contributions in the amount to be determined by the Board of Directors for each plan year. Discretionary nonelective contributions, if any, made to the Plan by the Employer will be allocated to the Participant's account in the ratio that the Participants eligible compensation bears to the total eligible compensation paid to all eligible Participants.

Participant Accounts

Individual accounts are maintained for each participant and includes each participant's salary deferral and rollover contributions, plus an allocation of employer contributions, plan earnings, and realized and unrealized gains and losses on investments. Participants are afforded several investment options covering a wide range of investment objectives and risks. Participants may allocate their contributions across these options in any proportion they wish, and can change this allocation at any time. Transfer of account balances between elected investment options may also be made at any time.

Vesting

Participants are immediately vested in their contributions, plus actual earnings thereon. For purposes of determining the vesting of the company's discretionary employer matching contribution of their accounts plus actual earnings, the vesting schedule is as follows:

Years of service	Vesting percentage
Less than 2	0%
2 years but less than 3 years	33%
3 years but less than 4 years	66%
4 years or more	100%

Vesting percentages for prior employer contributions may be subject to different vesting schedules as defined in the plan document.

Investment Options

Upon enrollment in the Plan, a participant may direct the investments of their accounts in one-percent increments in various investment options. In addition, participants have the option to make contributions to a self-directed brokerage account. Under the self-directed brokerage account, participants may direct investments in any security or other investment offered by Fidelity, regardless of whether they are included as investments options offered by the Plan.

Participant Notes Receivable

Participants may borrow from their fund accounts a minimum of $1,000, up to a maximum of $50,000 reduced by the participant's highest outstanding note balance during the twelve month period. Up to one half of their vested account balance may be used as collateral. Note terms range from one to five years or up to 10 years for the purchase of a primary residence. The notes are secured by the balance in the participant's account and bear interest at a rate commensurate with local prevailing rates, ranging from 4.25% to 10.50%, as determined quarterly by the Plan administrator. A participant may only have two notes outstanding at any given time. Principal and interest is paid ratably through payroll deductions.

Payment of Benefits

Upon termination of employment, a participant (or designated beneficiary) may elect to receive an amount equal to the value of the vested interest in their account. The Plan allows for distributions upon termination of service, death, disability, attainment of age 59 1/2 or in certain hardship situations. A participant may elect to receive a lump sum payment or may roll over the value of their account into another qualified plan. In the event a participant terminates or retires and the participant's vested account balance is less than $1,000, the balance will either be rolled into an Individual Retirement Account (IRA) or paid out as a lump sum distribution at the discretion of the Company.

NOTE 2 - SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The financial statements of the Plan, have been prepared in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America as applied to employee benefit plans in accordance with the terms of the Trust Agreement. A summary of the significant accounting policies consistently applied in the preparation of the accompanying financial statements follows.

Basis of Accounting

The financial statements of the Plan are prepared using the accrual method of accounting in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Investment Valuation and Income Recognition

The Plan's investments are stated at fair value. Shares of registered investment companies (mutual funds) and self-directed brokerage accounts are valued at quoted market prices, which represent the net asset value of shares held by the Plan at year-end. The contract value of participation units owned in the fully benefit-responsive Prudential Stable Value Fund, a synthetic guaranteed investment contract (SGIC), are based on net asset values, as determined by the Trustee, on the last business day of the Plan year. The fair value of the participation units is based on the fair value of the underlying assets.

The methods described above may produce a fair value calculation that may not be indicative of net realizable value or reflective of future fair values. Furthermore, while the Plan believes its valuation methods are appropriate and consistent with other market participants, the use of different methodologies or assumptions to determine the fair value of certain financial instruments could result in a different fair value measurement at the reporting date.

Purchases and sales of securities are recorded on a trade-date basis. Net appreciation in the fair value of investments consists of the realized gains or losses and unrealized appreciation (depreciation) on those investments. Dividends are recorded on the ex-dividend date.

The accounting guidance for fully benefit-responsive investment contracts requires investment contracts held by a defined contribution plan to be reported at fair value. However, contract value is the relevant measurement attribute for that portion of the net assets available for benefits of a defined contribution plan attributable to fully benefit-responsive investment contracts because contract value is the amount participants would receive if they were to initiate permitted transactions under the terms of the Plan. As required by the guidance, the statement of net assets available for benefits presents the fair value of the investment contracts as well as the adjustment of the fully benefit-responsive investment contracts from fair value to contract value. The statement of changes in net assets available for benefits is prepared on a contract value basis.

The Plan's investments in the Prudential Stable Value Fund, which is a fully benefit-responsive SGIC and common collective trust whose underlying investments are GICs, are recorded at fair value (see Note 3); however, since they are fully benefit-responsive, an adjustment is reflected in the statements of net assets available for benefits to present the investments at contract value. Contract value is the relevant measurement attributable to fully benefit-responsive investment contracts because contract value is the amount participants would receive if they were to initiate permitted transactions under the terms of the Plan. Contract value represents contributions made under the contract, plus earnings, less participant withdrawals and fees. Except for events which may result in termination for cause, including, but not limited to, plan termination or merger, early retirement incentive, and layoffs, the issuer may not cause the contract to be terminated at an amount other than contract value. The Plan does not believe that the occurrence of any event limiting the Plans' ability to transact at contract value is probable.

Interest is credited on contract balances using a single "portfolio rate" approach. Under this methodology, a single interest crediting rate is applied to all contributions made to the product regardless of the timing of those contributions. Interest crediting rates are reviewed on a quarterly basis for resetting. The minimum crediting rate is 0%. The average earnings yield of the Prudential Stable Fund was approximately 2.76% and 3.44% at December 31, 2010 and 2009, respectively. The average yield credited to participants was approximately 2.99% and 3.14% at December 31, 2010 and 2009, respectively. The average earnings yield differs from the average yield credited to participants as a result of the fund construction which utilizes contract value crediting rates that are intended to smooth out and blend in earnings yields over time.

Participant Notes Receivable

Participant notes are measured at their unpaid principal balances plus any accrued but unpaid interest. Delinquent participant notes are reclassified as distributions based upon the terms of the plan document.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent asset and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenue and expense during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Payment of Benefits

Benefits payments to participants are recorded upon distribution.

AOL Savings Plan

December 31, 2010 and 2009

Forfeited Accounts

Under the Plan agreement, forfeited nonvested accounts are used to reduce employer contributions and pay administrative expenses. At December 31, 2010 and 2009 $2,234,482 and $95,384 remains unallocated and eligible to reduce employer contributions and pay administrative expenses in future years, respectively. The 2010 “true up” contribution of $945,376 was funded out of the forfeiture account in 2011, and is therefore, not recorded as a employer contribution receivable as of December 31, 2010.

Risks and Uncertainties

The Plan invests in various investment securities. Investment securities are exposed to various risks such as interest rate, market and credit risks. Due to the level of risk associated with certain investment securities, it is at least reasonably possible that changes in the values of investment securities will occur in the near term and that such changes could materially affect participants’ account balances and the amounts reported in the statements of net assets available for benefits.

Recent Accounting Pronouncements

In September 2010, the FASB issued Accounting Standards Update (ASU) No. 2010-25, “Reporting Loans to Participants by Defined Contributions Pension Plans” (ASU 2010-25) in order to clarify how notes to participants should be classified and measured by defined contribution pension plans. The amendment to the account guidance requires that participant loans be classified as notes receivable from participants, which are segregated from plan investments and measured at their unpaid principal balance plus any accrued but unpaid interest. The Plan adopted ASU 2010-25 for the year ended December 31, 2010 and the period ended December 31, 2009. The adoption of ASU 2010-25 did not have a material impact on the Plan’s financial statements.

Subsequent Events

Events that occur after the balance sheet date but before the financial statements were issued must be evaluated for recognition or disclosure. The effects of subsequent events that provide evidence about conditions that existed at the balance sheet date are recognized in the accompanying financial statements. Subsequent events which provide evidence about conditions that existed after the balance sheet date require disclosure in the accompanying notes. Management evaluated the activity through October 17, 2011 and concluded that no subsequent events have occurred that would require recognition in the financial statements or disclosure in the notes to the financial statements.

NOTE 3 - FAIR VALUE

The accounting standard for the fair value measurement and disclosures requires the categorization of assets and liabilities into three levels based upon the assumption (inputs) used to value the assets or liabilities. Level 1 provides the most reliable measure of fair value whereas Level 3 generally requires signification management judgment.

The standard describes three levels of inputs that may be used to measure fair value:

Level 1 - Inputs to the valuation methodology are quoted prices available in active markets for identical investments as of the reporting date;

Level 2 - Inputs to the valuation methodology are other than quoted prices in active markets, which are either directly or indirectly observable and fair value can be determined through the use of models or other valuation methodologies; and

Level 3 - Inputs to the valuation methodology are unobservable inputs in situations where there is little or no market activity for the asset or liability and the reporting entity makes estimates and assumptions related to the pricing of the asset or liability including assumptions regarding risk.

The following table sets forth by level, within the fair value hierarchy, the Plan's investments at fair value as of December 31, 2010:

Assets measured at fair value on a recurring basis:	Fair value at	Level 1	Level 2	Level 3

NOTE 6 - PLAN TERMINATION

Although it has not expressed any intent to do so, the Plan Sponsor has the right to discontinue their matching contributions at any time and to terminate the Plan subject to the provisions of ERISA. In the event of plan termination, participating employees will become 100% vested in their accounts.

NOTE 7 - INCOME TAX STATUS

On March 31, 2008, the Internal Revenue Service stated that the prototype adopted by the Plan, as then designed, qualifies under section 401(a) of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC). The Plan has not received a determination letter specific to the Plan itself; however, the Plan administrator and the Plan's tax counsel believe that the Plan was designed and was being operated in compliance with the applicable requirements of the IRC. Additionally, the Plan has been amended since receiving the opinion letter; however, the Plan administrator and the Plan's tax counsel that the Plan is currently designed and being operated in compliance with the applicable requirements of the IRC. Therefore, no provision for income taxes has been included in the Plan's financial statements.

NOTE 8 - OPERATIONAL ERROR

During 2010, management identified eligible compensation was not being administered in accordance with the plan document. As a result, there were missed employee deferrals. Management intends to correct by restoring 50% of the missed employees' deferrals and lost earnings and interest thereon. Based on management's calculation, 50% of the missed employees' deferrals amounted to approximately $200,000 as of December 31, 2010. This amount is included in employer contributions receivable as of December 31, 2010.
