Audit Scope and Results

Auditor's Responsibility Under Auditing Standards Generally Accepted in the United States of America

An audit performed in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America is designed to obtain reasonable, rather than absolute, assurance about the financial statements. Our audit was performed in accordance with such standards except as requested by you in accordance with the alternative method reporting permitted by the Department of Labor. In performing auditing procedures, we establish scopes of audit tests in relation to the financial statements taken as a whole. Our engagement does not include a detailed audit of every transaction. Our engagement letter more specifically describes our responsibilities.

These standards require communication of significant matters related to the financial statement audit that are relevant to the responsibilities of those charged with governance in overseeing the financial reporting process. Such matters are communicated in the remainder of this letter or have previously been communicated during other phases of the audit. The standards do not require the auditor to design procedures for the purpose of identifying other matters to be communicated with those charged with governance.

An audit of the financial statements does not relieve management or those charged with governance of their responsibilities. Our engagement letter more specifically describes your responsibilities.

Qualitative Aspects of Significant Accounting Policies and Practices

Significant Accounting Policies

The Plan's significant accounting policies are described in Note 2 of the audited financial statements.

Alternative Accounting Treatments

We had no discussions with management regarding alternative accounting treatments within accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America for policies and practices for material items, including recognition, measurement and disclosure considerations related to the accounting for specific transactions as well as general accounting policies.

Management Judgments and Accounting Estimates

Accounting estimates are an integral part of financial statement preparation by management, based on its judgments. The valuation of investments is a significant area of such estimates for which we are prepared to discuss management's estimation process.

Financial Statement Disclosures

The following areas involve particularly sensitive financial statement disclosures for which we are prepared to discuss the issues involved and related judgments made in formulating those disclosures:

- Fair value of investments
- Risks and uncertainties

Audit Adjustments

During the course of any audit, an auditor may propose adjustments to financial statement amounts. Management evaluates our proposals and records those adjustments which, in its judgment, are required to prevent the financial statements from being materially misstated. There were no adjustments proposed for 2013.

Auditor's Judgments About the Quality of the Plan's Accounting Principles

During the course of the audit, we made no observations regarding the Plan's application of accounting principles that we considered to be reportable.

Other Material Written Communication

The management representation letter (attached) is the other material written communication between management and us related to the audit.

Internal Control Over Financial Reporting

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements of the Plan as of and for the year ended November 30, 2013, in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, we considered the Plan's internal control over financial reporting (internal control) as a basis for designing our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Plan's internal control. Accordingly, we do not express an opinion on the effectiveness of the Plan's internal control.

Our consideration of internal control was for the limited purpose described in the preceding paragraph and was not designed to identify all deficiencies in internal control that might be significant deficiencies or material weaknesses and, therefore, there can be no assurance that all deficiencies, significant deficiencies or material weaknesses have been identified.

A deficiency in internal control exists when the design or operation of a control does not allow management or employees, in the normal course of performing their assigned functions, to prevent or detect and correct misstatements of the Plan's financial statements on a timely basis. A deficiency in design exists when a control necessary to meet a control objective is missing or an existing control is not properly designed so that, even if the control operates as designed, a control objective would not be met. A deficiency in operation exists when a properly designed control does not operate as designed or when the person performing the control does not possess the necessary authority or competence to perform the control effectively.

A material weakness is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control, such that there is a reasonable possibility that a material misstatement of the Plan's financial statements will not be prevented or detected and corrected on a timely basis.

A significant deficiency is a deficiency, or combination of deficiencies, in internal control that is less severe than a material weakness, yet important enough to merit attention by those charged with governance.

We observed the following matter that we consider to be a deficiency.

Deficiency

Distributions

During our audit, it was noted the third-party administrator has sole responsibility for administering all benefit payments. Furthermore, the Plan Sponsor does not perform and document timely reviews of certain information prepared or provided by its third-party service providers or actuary. The Plan Sponsor is responsible for the prudent oversight and review of all services provided by third parties to the Plan. Hiring a service provider to perform duties on behalf of the Plan is a fiduciary function.

We recommend the Plan Sponsor perform and document various periodic reviews and reconciliations of information provided by the third-party service provider and actuary, including:

- Reviewing and recalculating new benefit calculations.
- Performing periodic correspondence with beneficiaries of the Plan to ensure all recipients are living and eligible for the distribution.
- Documenting formal approval of all lump sum and periodic payment distributions from the Plan and compare to distribution listing for accuracy.

Other Matter

Although not considered a material weakness, significant deficiency or deficiency in internal control over financial reporting, we observed the following matter and offer this comment and suggestion with respect to the matter which came to our attention during the course of the audit of the financial statements. Our audit procedures are designed primarily to enable us to form an opinion on the financial statements and, therefore, may not bring to light all weaknesses in policies and procedures that may exist. However, this matter is offered as a constructive suggestion for the consideration of management as part of the ongoing process of modifying and improving financial and administrative practices and procedures. We can discuss this matter further at your convenience and may provide implementation assistance for changes or improvements.

Correspondence With Retirees and Beneficiaries

We recommend Plan management regularly correspond with retirees and beneficiaries to ensure benefit recipients are not deceased and there have been no changes that could affect their benefits, such as changes in address, changes in beneficiary, etc. This ensures participant records are up to date and benefits are properly being distributed to eligible participants.

No adjustments were applied for early retirement age of 62 with a reduction for early benefit commencement because the adjustments are essentially actuarially equivalent and their effect on the valuation would be immeasurable for an employee group of this size.
The Target Normal Cost reduces to zero ($-0-) because benefit accruals were frozen and no additional benefits accrued during the plan year.

Plan Administrator and Plan Management
Gateway Packaging Company
Employee Pension Plan
Kansas City, Missouri

As part of our audit of the financial statements of Gateway Packaging Company Employee Pension Plan ("Plan") as of and for the year ended November 30, 2013, we wish to communicate the following to you.

Audit Scope and Results

An audit performed in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America is designed to obtain reasonable, rather than absolute, assurance about the financial statements. Our audit was performed in accordance with such standards except as requested by you in accordance with the alternative method reporting permitted by the Department of Labor. In performing auditing procedures, we establish scopes of audit tests in relation to the financial statements taken as a whole. Our engagement does not include a detailed audit of every transaction. Our engagement letter more specifically describes our responsibilities.

These standards require communication of significant matters related to the financial statement audit that are relevant to the responsibilities of those charged with governance in overseeing the financial reporting process. Such matters are communicated in the remainder of this letter or have previously been communicated during other phases of the audit. The standards do not require the auditor to design procedures for the purpose of identifying other matters to be communicated with those charged with governance.

An audit of the financial statements does not relieve management or those charged with governance of their responsibilities. Our engagement letter more specifically describes your responsibilities.

Qualitative Aspects of Significant Accounting Policies and Practices

Significant Accounting Policies

The Plan's significant accounting policies are described in Note 2 of the audited financial statements.

Alternative Accounting Treatments

We had no discussions with management regarding alternative accounting treatments within accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America for policies and practices for material items, including recognition, measurement and disclosure considerations related to the accounting for specific transactions as well as general accounting policies.

Management Judgments and Accounting Estimates

Accounting estimates are an integral part of financial statement preparation by management, based on its judgments. The valuation of investments is a significant area of such estimates for which we are prepared to discuss management's estimation process.

Financial Statement Disclosures

The following areas involve particularly sensitive financial statement disclosures for which we are prepared to discuss the issues involved and related judgments made in formulating those disclosures:

- Fair value of investments
- Risks and uncertainties

Audit Adjustments

During the course of any audit, an auditor may propose adjustments to financial statement amounts. Management evaluates our proposals and records those adjustments which, in its judgment, are required to prevent the financial statements from being materially misstated. There were no adjustments proposed for 2013.

Auditor's Judgments About the Quality of the Plan's Accounting Principles

During the course of the audit, we made no observations regarding the Plan's application of accounting principles that we considered to be reportable.

Other Material Written Communication

The management representation letter (attached) is the other material written communication between management and us related to the audit.

Internal Control Over Financial Reporting

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements of the Plan as of and for the year ended November 30, 2013, in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, we considered the Plan's internal control over financial reporting (internal control) as a basis for designing our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Plan's internal control. Accordingly, we do not express an opinion on the effectiveness of the Plan's internal control.

Our consideration of internal control was for the limited purpose described in the preceding paragraph and was not designed to identify all deficiencies in internal control that might be significant deficiencies or material weaknesses and, therefore, there can be no assurance that all deficiencies, significant deficiencies or material weaknesses have been identified.

A deficiency in internal control exists when the design or operation of a control does not allow management or employees, in the normal course of performing their assigned functions, to prevent or detect and correct misstatements of the Plan's financial statements on a timely basis. A deficiency in design exists when a control necessary to meet a control objective is missing or an existing control is not properly designed so that, even if the control operates as designed, a control objective would not be met. A deficiency in operation exists when a properly designed control does not operate as designed or when the person performing the control does not possess the necessary authority or competence to perform the control effectively.

A material weakness is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control, such that there is a reasonable possibility that a material misstatement of the Plan's financial statements will not be prevented or detected and corrected on a timely basis.

A significant deficiency is a deficiency, or combination of deficiencies, in internal control that is less severe than a material weakness, yet important enough to merit attention by those charged with governance.

We observed the following matter that we consider to be a deficiency.

Deficiency

Distributions

During our audit, it was noted the third-party administrator has sole responsibility for administering all benefit payments. Furthermore, the Plan Sponsor does not perform and document timely reviews of certain information prepared or provided by its third-party service providers or actuary. The Plan Sponsor is responsible for the prudent oversight and review of all services provided by third parties to the Plan. Hiring a service provider to perform duties on behalf of the Plan is a fiduciary function.

We recommend the Plan Sponsor perform and document various periodic reviews and reconciliations of information provided by the third-party service provider and actuary, including:

- Reviewing and recalculating new benefit calculations.
- Performing periodic correspondence with beneficiaries of the Plan to ensure all recipients are living and eligible for the distribution.
- Documenting formal approval of all lump sum and periodic payment distributions from the Plan and compare to distribution listing for accuracy.

Other Matter

Although not considered a material weakness, significant deficiency or deficiency in internal control over financial reporting, we observed the following matter and offer this comment and suggestion with respect to the matter which came to our attention during the course of the audit of the financial statements. Our audit procedures are designed primarily to enable us to form an opinion on the financial statements and, therefore, may not bring to light all weaknesses in policies and procedures that may exist. However, this matter is offered as a constructive suggestion for the consideration of management as part of the ongoing process of modifying and improving financial and administrative practices and procedures. We can discuss this matter further at your convenience and may provide implementation assistance for changes or improvements.

Correspondence With Retirees and Beneficiaries

We recommend Plan management regularly correspond with retirees and beneficiaries to ensure benefit recipients are not deceased and there have been no changes that could affect their benefits, such as changes in address, changes in beneficiary, etc. This ensures participant records are up to date and benefits are properly being distributed to eligible participants.
