Floral Agency, LLC
Retirement Plan
Notes to the Financial Statements
December 31, 2015

NOTE A: Plan Description

The following description of Floral Agency, LLC Retirement Plan provides only general information. Further detailed information regarding the plan can be found in the published plan document provided by the plan.

The plan is a defined contribution plan. It is subject to the provisions of the Employee Retirement Security Act of 1974 (ERISA).The plan was established to provide retirement benefits for those employees of Floral Agency, LLC , the plan sponso who are eligible to participate.

Employees are eligible to participate upon completion of one year of service consisting of a minimum of 1000 hours during such period and may continue to contribute as long as they maintain employment. The plan is funded through an employee salary deferral arrangement and employer matching contribution arrangement. Matching employer contributions were provided for the year 2015, the initial year of the plan, according to plan document rules.

The plan is fully participant directed. Participants are provided with various investment alternatives. Separate accounts are maintained for each participant. Participants direct the investment of their contributions into various investment options offered by the plan. Each participant's account is credited with the participant's contribution, the earnings on his investments (which include realized and unrealized gains or losses), employer contributions, and any rollover from another qualified plan or IRA. Each participant's account is charged for investment advisory fees, management fees, administration fees, and fees charged by the underlying investment; all either allocated proportionally or directly charged to the participant's account.

The benefit, to which one is entitled, is the benefit that can be provided from the participant's vested portion of their account balance. Vesting in the account is immediate for the employee portion of the contribution and the earnings thereon as well as for the employer matching contribution.

Any distribution taken by an individual will immediately cause the unvested amount to be forfeited. This forfeiture amount is to be allocated to future years to reduce employer contributions.

Detailed information regarding vesting, age and employment requirements, employee and employer contribution and distribution limits, are all detailed in the published document.

All expenses of maintaining the plan are paid by the plan sponsor. This includes mandatory plan fiduciary insurance, audit fees, and other operating costs. However, the sponsor can elect in the future not to pay these costs and let the plan pay them. This would affect the participant's net return on investment.

In general, the sponsor has the right to amend the plan, except that no amendment may reduce any benefit accrued to the account of, or earned by a participant. Similarly, the plan may be terminated by the sponsor but only in compliance with provisions of ERISA.

NOTE B: Significant Accounting Policies

1) Date of Management's review

Subsequent events were evaluated through October10, 2016, the date the financial statements were available to be issued.

2) Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires plan administration to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and changes therein, as well as the disclosures of contingent assets and liabilities. Accordingly, actual results may differ from those estimates.

3) Basis of Accounting and Income Recognition

The accompanying financial statements are prepared on the accrual basis of accounting.

Interest income is recorded on the accrual basis and dividend income is recorded on the ex-dividend date; both shown as investment income receivable on the statements of net assets available for benefits if applicable.

4) Investments

The plan's investments are stated at fair value. Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to buy an asset (or to transfer a liability) in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date.

The investment alternatives mentioned in Note A are held and administered by John Hancock Insurance Company of New York, the sole provider of the options. The options are pooled separate accounts invested in publicly traded mutual funds as well as a direct investment in an insurance company general account. They are valued daily based on the publicly available market price using a unit of value method.

Transaction are recorded as purchased or sold based on that day's market price. Values are adjusted as of the date the underlying publicly traded investment adjusts its value for dividends, interest, gains & losses, etc. The unit of account concept allows fees and adjustments to be allocated to the individual accounts.

In addition to the pooled separate accounts, the plan has a "default investment alternative" for individual participants unallocated funds. This temporary account is an investment vehicle supplied by John Hancock.

5) Fair Value Measurement

In accordance with authoritative guidance on fair value measurement the accounting literature establishes a fair value hierarchy that prioritizes the inputs to valuation techniques used to measure fair value. This hierarchy consists of three broad levels:

Level 1 input consists of unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets and has the highest priority.

Level 2 inputs consist of observable inputs other than quoted prices for identical assets.

Level 3 inputs have the lowest priority. They consist of unobservable inputs. The Plan uses appropriate valuation techniques based on the available inputs to measure the fair value of its investments. When available, the plan measures fair value using Level 1 inputs because they generally provide the most reliable evidence of fair value.

The investments in pooled separate accounts that are valued daily based on the publicly traded underlying value, use a unit of value concept which only closely approximates the actual fair market value because of fees that are allocated. Based on the above, and John Hancock's fair market guidance all the valuations were ascribed to level 2.

The accompanying schedule shows detailed information.

NOTE C: Information Prepared and Certified by the Custodian

The following financial summary information was certified as complete and accurate in accordance with 29 CFR 2520.103-8 of the Department of Labor's Rules and Regulations for Reporting and disclosure under ERISA, by John Hancock Insurance Company of New York, the trustee, transaction administrator, and custodian of the plan assets, per these regulations. The certified information included is outlined as follows:

Investment balances included in the Statement of Net Assets Available for Benefits as of December 31, 2015.

Fidelity Contra Fund	$	259

Investment activities included in the Statement of Changes in Net assets Available for Benefits for the year ended December 31, 2015:

Gains & Losses	$ (1)

NOTE D: Party-in-Interest Transactions

The investment options offered are all managed by John Hancock Insurance Company of New York who serves as the as custodian of the plan assets and as a Third Party Administrator. As such, they are considered parties in interest but are exempt from the prohibited transactions rules of ERISA.

NOTE E: Plan Amendments and Tax Status

The plan was formed by Thomson Reuters Services Inc., a volume submitter. There is an IRS approval letter dated March 31, 2014 stating that the plan and related trust are designed in accordance with applicable sections of the code and are tax exempt and can operate as a benefit plan.

The plan was adopted December 9, 2014 effective for employees as of January 1, 2015.

Plan management has analyzed the tax positions taken by the plan and has concluded that as of December 31, 2015 there are no uncertain positions taken or expected to be taken that would require recognition of an asset, liability, or disclosure in the financial statements.

NOTE F: Form 5500

The plan, per government regulations, is required to file an annual report for employee benefit plans (Form 5500). The financial statements are to be on an accrual basis while the form is to be filed on a cash basis. This will sometimes result in differences between the two reports. The report is being filed on an accrual basis so there are no differences to report.

NOTE G: Risks and Uncertainties

The plan invests in various investment securities. These investments are exposed to various risks such as interest rate, market, and credit risks. Due to the level of risk associated with investment securities, it is at least reasonably possible that changes in the values of these investments will occur in the near term and that such changes could materially affect the amounts reported in the statement of net assets available for benefits.

In addition, although plan management believes that their valuations of the investments are appropriate, the use of different methodologies to value those assets may result in a different valuation.
