Note F – Plan Termination

Although Perez de Florida intends the plan to be permanent, the company reserve the right to terminate the plan. Upon termination of the plan, in whole or in part, all affected participants are fully vested in their accounts and shall be entitled to a distribution of their respective account's balances.

Note G – Tax Status

The internal revenue service has determined by letter that the prototype plan and related trust adopted by the company are designed in accordance with applicable section of the Internal Revenue Code. Accounting principle generally accepted in the United State of America require plan management to evaluate tax position taken by the plan and recognize a tax liability (or asset) if the plan has taken an uncertain position then more likely than not be sustained upon examination by the federal or state tax authorities. The plan administrator has analyzed the plan position taken by the plan and has conclude that as of December 31, 2018 there are no uncertain position taken or expected to be taken that would require recognition of a liability (or asset) or disclosures on the financial statements. The plan is subject to routine audit by taxing jurisdictions, however there are currently no audit for any tax period in progress. The tax period ending on December 31, 2018 and 2017 are open to audit.

Note H – Risk and Uncertainties

The plan invests in various investment securities. Investment security are exposed to various risk such as interest rate, market, and credit risk. Due to the level of risk associated with certain investment securities, it as least reasonable possible that changes in the value of investments securities will occur in the near term and that such changes could materially affect participants accounts balances and the amount reported in the statement of net assets available for benefits.

Note I – Subsequent Events

Subsequent events have been evaluated for recognition in the December 31, 2018 financial statements through September 30, 2019, the date on which the financial statements were available to be issued.

15. Fair Value

Fair value is defined as the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. Authoritative guidance establishes a framework for measuring fair value that includes a hierarchy used to classify the inputs used in measuring fair value based on their observability. The hierarchy prioritizes the inputs to valuation techniques used to measure fair value into three levels. The level in the fair value hierarchy within which the fair value measurement falls is determined based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement. The levels of the fair value hierarchy are as follows:

- Level 1 – Fair value is based on unadjusted quoted prices in active markets that are accessible to the Company for identical assets or liabilities. These generally provide the most reliable evidence and are used to measure fair value whenever available. Active markets provide current pricing data on a more frequent basis. Examples include certain U.S. Treasury securities and exchange-traded equity securities.

- Level 2 – Fair value is based on quoted prices for similar assets or liabilities in active markets, inactive markets, or model-derived valuations in which all significant inputs and significant value drivers are observable in active markets. This level includes financial instruments that are valued by independent pricing services using models or other valuation methodologies. These models are primarily industry-standard models that consider various inputs which are observable or derived from observable information in the marketplace. Examples include certain public and private corporate securities, certain government and agency securities, and certain mortgage-backed securities.

- Level 3 – Fair value is based on valuations derived from techniques in which one or more significant inputs or significant value drivers are unobservable for assets or liabilities. Non-binding broker quotes on certain fixed maturity securities, which are utilized when pricing service information is not available, are reviewed for reasonableness by the Company, and are generally considered Level 3. Examples include certain public and private corporate securities, certain mortgage-backed securities and other less liquid securities (such as FHLBI stock and limited partnerships), and embedded derivatives resulting from certain products with guaranteed benefits.

In certain instances, the inputs used to measure fair value fall into different levels of the fair value hierarchy. In such cases, the level disclosed is based on the lowest level significant to the fair value measurement. The assessment of the significance of a particular input to the fair value measurement and ultimate classification of each asset and liability requires judgment.

The methods and assumptions the Company uses to estimate fair values of assets and liabilities measured on a recurring basis are summarized below.

Fixed maturity securities - are based on quoted market prices where available. For fixed maturity securities not actively traded, including certain corporate securities, fair values are estimated using values obtained from a number of independent pricing sources. If pricing information received from a third party pricing services is not reflective of market activity or other inputs observed in the market, the Company may develop valuations or obtain broker quotes in which Level 3 classification may be assigned. In the case of private placements, fair values are estimated by discounting expected future cash flows using a current market rate consistent with the industry sector, credit quality and maturity of each investment, taking into account the reduced liquidity associated with the security. To the extent that management determines that such non-observable inputs, such as a liquidity adjustment, are not significant to the price of a security, a Level 2 classification is made. For residential mortgage-backed securities, the primary inputs to the valuation include quoted prices for identical or similar assets in markets that are not active, contractual cash flows, benchmark yields, prepayment speeds, collateral performance and credit spreads. For commercial mortgage-backed securities, the primary inputs to the valuation include the same for residential except for prepayment speeds.

Most of the mortgage-backed security inputs are market observable and have been primarily classified as Level 2. US Treasury notes traded in an active market are reported as Level 1. Securities with quotes from pricing services are generally reflected within Level 2. If the Company concludes that pricing information from the independent pricing service is not reflective of market activity, non-binding broker quotes may be used. When observable market data is not available, the security is reported in Level 3.

Equity securities – consist of investments in common and preferred stock of publicly and privately traded securities as well as common stock mutual funds shares. The fair values of most publicly traded equity securities are based on quoted market prices in active markets for identical assets and are classified within Level 1 in the fair value hierarchy. Estimated fair values for most privately traded equity securities are determined using valuation and discounted cash flow models that require a substantial level of judgment and therefore may use unobservable inputs. Most privately traded equity securities, the majority being FHLBI stock, are classified within Level 3.

Short-term and other invested assets – the short-term investments are typically not traded in active markets, however the fair values are based on market observable inputs and are categorized accordingly within Level 2. Other invested assets include limited partnerships that are carried at fair value. Fair value is determined based on the net asset value provided by the limited partnership manager (except where the Company has a minor interest) and is classified as Level 3.

Cash equivalents – include money market instruments and other highly liquid debt instruments. Money market instruments are generally valued using unadjusted quoted prices in active markets and are primarily classified as Level 1. The remaining cash equivalents are not traded in active markets; however, their fair values are based on market observable inputs and have been classified as Level 2.
