Administrator and Management of
TAS Environmental Services LP 401(k) Profit Sharing Plan

In planning and performing my audit of the financial statements of TAS Environmental Services LP 401(k) Profit Sharing Plan (the "Plan") as of and for the year ended December 31, 2020, in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, I considered the Plan's internal control over financial reporting (internal control) as a basis for designing audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances for the purpose of expressing my opinion on the financial statements, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Plan's internal control. Accordingly, I do not express an opinion on the effectiveness of the Plan's internal control.

My consideration of internal control was for the limited purpose described in the preceding paragraph and was not designed to identify all deficiencies in internal control that might be material weaknesses or significant deficiencies and, therefore, material weaknesses or significant deficiencies may exist that were not identified. However, as discussed below, I identified certain deficiencies in internal control that I consider to be material weaknesses and significant deficiencies.

A deficiency in internal control exists when the design or operation of a control does not allow management or employees, in the normal course of performing their assigned functions, to prevent, or detect and correct, misstatements on a timely basis. A material weakness is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control over financial reporting, such that there is a reasonable possibility that a material misstatement of the Plan's financial statements will not be prevented, or detected and corrected on a timely basis. A reasonable possibility exists when the likelihood of an event occurring is either reasonably possible or probable as defined as follows:

- Reasonably possible. The chance of the future event or events occurring is more than remote but less than likely.
- Probable. The future event or events are likely to occur.

My consideration of internal control was for the limited purpose described in the first paragraph and was not designed to identify all deficiencies in internal control that might be material weaknesses. Given these limitations, during my audit I did not identify any deficiencies in internal control that I consider to be material weaknesses. However, material weaknesses may exist that have not been identified.

A significant deficiency is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control over financial reporting that is less severe than a material weakness, yet important enough to merit attention by those charged with governance. I consider the following deficiency in the plan's internal control to be a significant deficiency:

While testing participant data, I noted the plan's third party administrator, ADP, provides a monthly information summary report that details missing or bad participant data between the employee census report provided by the plan sponsor and the data in the employee portal of ADP. The bad or missing data, such as employment date or birth date, are critical information in determining participant eligibility into the plan. I noted the bad information on this report has not been corrected by the Plan. I recommend the plan sponsor assign an employee to investigate the differences and correct as necessary.

This communication is intended solely for the information and use of management and others within the organization, and is not intended to be, and should not be, used by anyone other than these specified parties.
