October 12, 2022

To Management and Plan Administrator
Omaha, Nebraska

Except as discussed in the following paragraph, in planning and performing our audit of the financial statements of Project Harmony Retirement Plan as of and for the year ended December 31, 2021, in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, we considered Project Harmony Retirement Plan's internal control over financial reporting (internal control) as a basis for designing audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the plan's internal control. Accordingly, we do not express an opinion on the effectiveness of Project Harmony Retirement Plan's internal control.

Management has determined it is permissible in the circumstances and has elected to have the audit of the Plan's financial statements performed in accordance with ERISA Section 103(a)(3)(C) pursuant to 29 CFR 2520.103-8 of the DOL's Rules and Regulations for Reporting and Disclosure under ERISA. Therefore, as permitted by ERISA Section 103(a)(3)(C), the audit need not extend to any statements of information related to assets held for investment of the Plan (investment information) by a bank or similar institution or insurance carrier that is regulated, supervised, and subject to periodic examination by a state or federal agency, provided that the statements or information regarding assets so held are prepared and certified to by the bank or similar institution or insurance carrier in accordance with 29 CFR 2520.103-5 of the DOL's Rules and Regulations for Reporting and Disclosure under ERISA (qualified institution).

A deficiency in internal control exists when the design or operation of a control does not allow management or employees, in the normal course of performing their assigned functions, to prevent, or detect and correct, misstatements on a timely basis.

We are required to consider relevant plan provisions that affect the risk of material misstatement at the relevant assertion level when designing and performing audit procedures. When audit work performed results in the identification of items that are not in accordance with specified criteria, such as plan provisions as set forth in the plan instrument, we are required to evaluate whether the matter is a reportable finding. Reportable findings are matters that are one or more of the following:

- a. An identified instance of noncompliance or suspected noncompliance with laws or regulations.
- b. A finding arising from the audit that is, in the auditor's professional judgment, significant and relevant to those charged with governance regarding their responsibility to oversee the financial reporting process.
- c. An indication of deficiencies in internal control identified during the audit that have not been communicated to management by other parties and that, in the auditor's professional judgment, are of sufficient importance to merit management's attention.

A reportable finding may be a material weakness, a significant deficiency, or a control deficiency defined as follows:

A material weakness is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control over financial reporting, such that there is a reasonable possibility that a material misstatement of the plan's financial statements will not be prevented or detected and corrected on a timely basis. A reasonable possibility exists when the likelihood of an event occurring is either reasonably possible or probable as defined as follows:

- Reasonably possible. The chance of the future event or events occurring is more than remote but less than likely.
- Probable. The future event or events are likely to occur.

A significant deficiency is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control over financial reporting that is less severe than a material weakness, yet important enough to merit attention by those charged with governance.

A control deficiency is a deficiency or combination of deficiencies in internal control that does not rise to the level of a material weakness or significant deficiency but is of sufficient importance to merit management's attention.

We consider the following reportable findings in the plan's internal control to be significant deficiencies:

Internal Control over the Preparation of Financial Statements

The Plan does not have an internal control system designed to provide for the preparation of the financial statements and related financial statement disclosures being audited. As auditors, we were requested to draft the financial statements and accompanying notes to the financial statements. Although this circumstance is not unusual for a Plan of your size, the preparation of financial statements as a part of the audit engagement may result in financial statements and related information included in financial statements disclosures not being available for management purposes as timely as it would be if prepared by Plan personnel. It is the responsibility of management and those charged with governance to determine whether to accept the risk associated with this condition because of cost or other considerations.

Maintenance of Meeting Minutes

The Plan administrators should maintain minutes of all meetings regarding the Plan. The minutes should record that the Board of Directors has regularly reviewed agreements with third party administrators and investment managers, and also investment and loan policies. In addition, reasons for changes in third party administrators, investment managers, and investment and loan policies should be documented. The minutes should also record the Board of Director's review of the list of parties in interest and any prohibited transactions; approval of benefit payments and employer contributions; and investment results. This important documentation establishes that the trustees are actively involved in managing the Plan for the benefit of the Plan's participants and their beneficiaries, which is part of their fiduciary responsibility.

Our consideration of internal control was for the limited purpose described in the preceding paragraphs and was not designed to identify all deficiencies in internal control that might be considered reportable findings, including material weaknesses, significant deficiencies, or control deficiencies, and, therefore, reportable findings in these categories may exist that were not identified.

This communication is intended solely for the information and use of management, the Trustees, and others within the organization, and is not intended to be, and should not be, used by anyone other than these specified parties.
