Management and Those Charged with Governance of
The Constant Company, LLC 401(k) Profit Sharing Plan
319 Clematis Street, Suite 900
West Palm Beach, FL 33401

Except as discussed in the following paragraph, in planning and performing our audit of the financial statements of The Constant Company, LLC 401(k) Profit Sharing Plan (the "Plan"), an employee benefit plan subject to the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (ERISA), as of and for the year ended December 31, 2021, in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, we considered the Plan's internal control over financial reporting (internal control) as a basis for designing audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances for the purpose of issuing our report on the financial statements, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Plan's internal control. Accordingly, we do not express an opinion on the effectiveness of the Plan's internal control.

We were engaged to perform an ERISA Section 103(a)(3)(C) audit of those financial statements as permitted by 29 CFR 2520.103-8 of the Department of Labor's Rules and Regulations for Reporting and Disclosure under the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974. As permitted by ERISA Section 103(a)(3)(C), our audit did not extend to any statements or information related to assets held for investment of the Plan (investment information) by Reliance Trust Company that prepared and certified the statements or information regarding assets so held in accordance with 29 CFR 2520.103-5. Our audit also did not include a consideration of internal control relating to the investment information.

Our consideration of internal control was for the limited purpose described in the preceding paragraphs and was not designed to identify all deficiencies in internal control that might be material weaknesses or significant deficiencies and, therefore, material weaknesses or significant deficiencies may exist that were not identified. However, as discussed below, we identified certain deficiencies in internal control that we consider to be a significant deficiency.

A deficiency in internal control exists when the design or operation of a control does not allow management or employees, in the normal course of performing their assigned functions, to prevent, or detect and correct, misstatements on a timely basis. A material weakness is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies in internal control, such that there is a reasonable possibility that a material misstatement of the Plan's financial statements will not be prevented, or detected and corrected, on a timely basis. We did not identify any deficiencies in internal control that we consider to be material weaknesses.

A significant deficiency is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control that is less severe than a material weakness, yet important enough to merit attention by those charged with governance. We consider the following deficiency in the Plan's internal control to be a significant deficiency:

Definition of Eligible Compensation for Employee Contribution and Employer Match Calculations

It was noted during our audit procedures that there was inconsistency in the application of the terms in the Plan document relating to the definition of eligible compensation for the purposes of calculating the employee's contribution and the employer's contribution. Participants in our sample made, received contributions based on compensation including bonuses, although bonuses are not included in the definition of compensation in the Plan document. We noted this error on all participants receiving bonuses in 2021. We recommend the plan sponsor utilize an ERISA attorney to correct the error and review the setup of the payroll system to ensure proper definition of compensation in accordance with the Plan document is utilized going forward to mitigate any risk of a misstatement in the future.

During our audit, we also became aware of deficiencies in internal control other than significant deficiencies or material weaknesses, and the following other matters that are opportunities for strengthening internal controls and operating efficiency:

Timely Remittance of Participant Contributions

During our testing of contribution remittances from payroll to the trust, we noted that contributions were withheld from payroll; however, the monies were not always timely remitted to the Plan. The Department of Labor (DOL) Regulation 2510.3-102 requires that participant contributions be remitted to the Plan on the earliest date on which they can be reasonably segregated from the plan sponsor's general assets, but in no event later than the 15th business day following the end of the month in which amounts are contributed by employees or withheld from their wages. Failure to remit participant contributions to the Plan in a timely manner resulted in prohibited transactions which must be separately reported to the DOL and may result in lost earnings for the Plan and penalties to the plan sponsor. The untimely contributions identified occurred at the beginning of the year and management has since corrected the issue. We recommend that the plan sponsor continually review the procedures involved in remittance of participant contributions to the Plan and institute the necessary controls to ensure participant contributions are remitted timely. Additionally, we recommend the plan sponsor utilize an ERISA attorney to assist with verifying all appropriate corrections have been filed with the Department of Labor.

Timely Enrollment of Participants

During our testing of participant data, we identified a participant whose deferral election was erroneously changed to 0%, causing the Plan to inadvertently not deduct deferrals or calculate employer match for this participant. This error could expose the plan sponsor to make necessary corrective actions for the plan to remain in compliance with regulations, and may include corrective contributions on behalf of the participant. Further analysis performed did not identify any other affected participants. We recommend that a procedure be instituted that ensures the proper amount and type of deferrals and match are being withheld from participants compensation and contributed to the Plan.

This communication is intended solely for the information and use of Plan management, those charged with governance, and others within the Plan, and is not intended to be, and should not be, used by anyone other than these specified parties.
