To Management
HOTT Associates, Inc. 401(k) Profit Sharing Plan and Trust
Middleburg Heights, Ohio

Except as discussed in the following paragraph, in planning and performing our audit of the financial statements of HOTT Associates, Inc. 401(k) Profit Sharing Plan and Trust (the “Plan”), an employee benefit plan subject to the Employee Retirement Income Security of 1974 (ERISA), as of and for the year ended December 31, 2022, in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, we considered HOTT Associates, Inc. 401(k) Profit Sharing Plan and Trust’s internal control over financial reporting (internal control) as a basis for designing auditing procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances for the purpose of issuing our report on the financial statements, but not for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the effectiveness of the Plan’s internal control. Accordingly, we do not express an opinion on the effectiveness of the Plan’s internal control.

We were engaged to perform an ERISA Section 103(a)(3)(C) audit of those financial statements as permitted by 29 CFR 2520.103-8 of the Department of Labor’s Rules and Regulations for Reporting and Disclosure under the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974. As permitted by ERISA Section 103(a)(3)(C), our audit did not extend to any statements or information related to assets held for investment of the Plan (investment information) by Reliance Bank & Trust Company that prepared and certified the statements or information regarding assets so held in accordance with 29 CFR 2520.103-5. Our audit did not include a consideration of internal control relating to the investment information.

A deficiency in internal control exists when the design or operation of a control does not allow management or employees, in the normal course of performing their assigned functions, to prevent, or detect and correct misstatements on a timely basis. A material weakness is a deficiency, or combination of deficiencies in internal control, such that there is a reasonable possibility that a material misstatement of the Plan’s financial statements will not be prevented, or detected and corrected on a timely basis. We did not note any deficiencies in HOTT Associates, Inc. 401(k) Profit Sharing Plan and Trust’s internal control that we consider to be a material weakness.

A significant deficiency is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control that is less severe than a material weakness, yet important enough to merit attention by those charged with governance. We considered the following deficiencies in HOTT Associates, Inc. 401(k) Profit Sharing Plan and Trust’s internal control to be significant deficiencies:

Contributions on separate vacation pays

Issue

We noted discrepancies when reviewing participant contributions. Specifically, during testing we identified that any paycheck which only contained vacation pay did not include deferrals or match on these amounts, though they are deemed eligible wages per the Plan document.

Recommendation

We recommend plan management implement controls and procedures to ensure all contributions are calculated and accurately transmitted on all pays, including payrolls that may relate to vacation pay or other unusual compensation. Ongoing reconciliations with each pay period would serve to help prevent amounts being withheld and not timely remitted to the plan. We also recommend plan management ensure that when unusual pays are included in employee compensation, management calculates and remits employee deferrals and employer match, unless an opt-out form is signed by the participant related to those amounts. We also recommend plan management make the participants whole by contributing the employee portion and employer match that should have been withheld.

Inaccurate deductions

Issue

We noted several participants who consistently received multiple paychecks for a single pay period were only given the opportunity to defer on a single paycheck each pay period.

Recommendation

We recommend plan management correct these errors and make the participants whole by contributing the amounts required by the Employee Plan Compliance Resolutions System relating to the missed deferrals, as well as implement controls or programming check changes to ensure these types of errors do not continue.

Timely deposit of participant contributions

Issue

During our audit, it was noted that sufficient controls are not in place to ensure participant contributions are remitted to the plan in a timely manner. Participant contributions for certain payrolls during the year were not remitted timely. The Department of Labor (DOL) requires that participant contributions be remitted to the plan on the earliest date on which they can be reasonably segregated from the company's general assets but in no event later than the 15th business day following the end of the month in which amounts are contributed by employees or withheld from their wages. Failure to remit participant contributions to the plan in a timely manner results in a prohibited transaction that must be separately reported to the DOL and may result in excise tax penalties to the plan sponsor.

Recommendation

We recommend that the plan sponsor review the procedures involved in remittance of participant contributions to the plan and institute the necessary controls to ensure participant contributions are remitted timely. A Form 5330 should be filed with the IRS to remit excise taxes due on the contributions that were not remitted timely, and lost earnings must be remitted to the plan and allocated to participants.

Inadequate design of internal control over preparation of the financial statements

Issue

We feel based on the size of the Company and knowledge of the personnel there is full reliance on the auditor to prepare the financial statements.

Recommendation

The auditors can prepare the financial statements as a courtesy to the Plan; however, we recommend someone with Plan knowledge be involved in the reviewing and approval of the financial statements.

Potential for management override of controls

Issue

We feel based on the size of the Company, there is always the potential for management to override controls and manipulate the Plan data.

Recommendation

We recommend maintaining the segregation of duties that the Company currently has, the diversification of the Plan duties with the third party administrator and trustee and following the process and procedures that are currently in place. Following these policies should prevent any management override.

This communication is intended solely for the information and use of plan management, the plan administrator, and others within the Plan, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.
