Except as discussed in the following paragraph, in planning and performing our audit of the financial statements of Gray America Corp. Savings & Retirement Plan (the "Plan"), an employee benefit plan subject to the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (ERISA), as of and for the year ended December 31, 2022, in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, we considered the Plan's internal control over financial reporting (internal control) as a basis for designing audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances for the purpose of issuing our report on the financial statements, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Plan's internal control. Accordingly, we do not express an opinion on the effectiveness of the Plan's internal control.

We were engaged to perform an ERISA Section 103(a)(3)(C) audit of those financial statements as permitted by 29 CFR 2520.103-8 of the Department of Labor's Rules and Regulations for Reporting and Disclosure under the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974. As permitted by ERISA Section 103(a)(3)(C), our audit did not extend to any statements or information related to assets held for investment of the Plan (investment information) by Reliance Trust Company that prepared and certified the statements or information regarding assets so held in accordance with 29 CFR 2520.103-5. Our audit also did not include a consideration of internal control relating to the investment information.

Our consideration of internal control was for the limited purpose described in the preceding paragraphs and was not designed to identify all deficiencies in internal control that might be material weaknesses or significant deficiencies and, therefore, material weaknesses or significant deficiencies may exist that were not identified. However, as discussed below, we identified certain deficiencies in internal control that we consider to be significant deficiencies.

A deficiency in internal control exists when the design or operation of a control does not allow management or employees, in the normal course of performing their assigned functions, to prevent, or detect and correct, misstatements on a timely basis. A material weakness is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control such that there is a reasonable possibility that a material misstatement of the Plan's financial statements will not be prevented, or detected and corrected, on a timely basis. We did not identify any deficiencies in internal control that we consider to be material weaknesses.

A significant deficiency is a deficiency, or combination of deficiencies, in internal control that is less severe than a material weakness, yet important enough to merit attention by those charged with governance. We consider the following deficiencies in the Plan's internal control to be significant deficiencies.

SIGNIFICANT DEFICIENCIES

Participant Testing – Current Year

During our 2022 audit testing, we noted two participants (Jennifer Wallace and Lynlee Cornett) received employer matching contributions in excess of the annual maximum employer matching contribution amount of $1,170. We noted that this was the result of these two employees working for multiple companies during the year. We recommend that Plan management work with ADP to move these funds and related earnings from participant accounts to forfeitures. In addition, we recommend a control be put in place to ensure that the maximum employer contribution amount does not get exceeded during the year for employees that move between companies.

Participant Testing – Prior Year

During our testing of participant data in the prior year, we noted the Company made a true-up contribution on January 25, 2021 for missed employer matching contributions for the period October 1, 2020 through December 31, 2020. The true-up contribution did not take into account lost earnings during this time period. We previously recommended that Plan management work with ADP to calculate lost earnings attributable to each participant effected and fund their accounts as necessary. It did not appear this had been addressed as of our 2022 audit fieldwork date.

During our testing of participant data in the prior year, we noted the Company made a true-up contribution on January 25, 2021 for missed employer matching contributions for the pay date January 7, 2021. This catch-up contribution was not taken into account when calculating the annual maximum employer matching contribution, resulting in certain participants receiving more than the maximum employer matching contribution during 2021. We previously recommended that Plan management work with ADP to identify those participants who received more than the maximum employer matching contribution and move these funds and related earnings from participant accounts to forfeitures. It did not appear that this had been addressed as of our 2022 audit fieldwork date.

Segregation of Duties

During our audit, we noted that there is a lack of segregation of duties around changes made to the underlying payroll records and review of these changes. The Senior Vice President of Operations is responsible for making changes to payroll, including entering new employees and updating pay rates and is also responsible for reviewing changes made to payroll. We recommend that controls be enacted to separate the performance and review of these functions.

Although not significant deficiencies, we identified the following opportunities for improving the administration and operations of the Plan.

OTHER FINDINGS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

Contributions

We noted that while contribution remittances are reviewed and approved each payroll period, total contributions per the trust reports are not being reconciled to the payroll records and W-3 amounts. We recommend that Plan management reconcile total contributions per payroll records to the trust reports or other online information from the third-party administrator on a monthly or quarterly basis. In addition, we recommend that contributions for the year, per the payroll records, be reconciled to the contributions per the annual trust statement provided by the third-party administrator. These controls will help to ensure that contributions are being properly classified and will help to ensure that all contributions are being remitted and received by the third-party administrator on a timely basis.

Distribution Review

During our audit, it was noted that quarterly and annual reports provided by the third-party administrator for distributions are not reviewed for reasonableness. Although no significant discrepancies were noted in this area during the audit, this review is still a prudent business practice. We recommend that Plan management review distributions for reasonableness at least quarterly. Any unusual items noted during this review, specifically distributions to unknown individuals or individuals who have not been terminated, should be investigated.

COMMUNICATIONS WITH THOSE CHARGED WITH GOVERNANCE

We have audited the financial statements of Gray America Corp. Savings & Retirement Plan (the "Plan"), an employee benefit plan subject to the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (ERISA), as permitted by ERISA Section 103(a)(3)(C) [ERISA Section 103(a)(3)(C) audit] for the year ended December 31, 2022, and have issued our report thereon dated October 5, 2023. As permitted by ERISA Section 103(a)(3)(C), our audit did not extend to any statements or information related to assets held for investment of the Plan (investment information) by Reliance Trust Company, the Trustee, which is a bank or similar institution or insurance carrier that is regulated, supervised, and subject to periodic examination by a state or federal agency, that prepared and certified the statements or information regarding assets so held in accordance with 29 CFR 2520.103-5. Our audit did not extend to the certified investment information, except for obtaining and reading the certification, comparing the certified investment information with the related information presented and disclosed in the financial statements and ERISA-required supplemental schedules, and reading the disclosures relating to the certified investment information to assess whether they are in accordance with the presentation and disclosure requirements of GAAP. Accordingly, the objective of an ERISA Section 103(a)(3)(C) audit is not to express an opinion about whether the financial statements as a whole are presented fairly, in all material respects, in accordance with GAAP. Professional standards require that we provide you with information about our responsibilities under generally accepted auditing standards, as well as certain information related to the planned scope and timing of our audit. We have communicated such information in our engagement letter to you dated May 4, 2023. Professional standards also require that we communicate to you the following information related to our audit.

Significant Audit Matters

Qualitative Aspects of Accounting Practices

Management is responsible for the selection and use of appropriate accounting policies. The significant accounting policies used by the Plan are described in Note 2 to the financial statements. No new accounting policies were adopted, and the application of existing policies was not changed during 2022. We noted no transactions entered into by the Plan during the year for which there is a lack of authoritative guidance or consensus. All significant transactions have been recognized in the Plan's financial statements in the proper period.

Accounting estimates are an integral part of the financial statements prepared by management and are based on management's knowledge and experience about past and current events and assumptions about future events. Certain accounting estimates are particularly sensitive because of their significance to the Plan's financial statements and because of the possibility that future events affecting them may differ significantly from those expected. There are no significant estimates within the Plan's financial statements.

Certain financial statement disclosures are particularly sensitive because of their significance to the financial statement users. The most sensitive disclosures affecting the financial statements are the disclosures related to the description of the Plan (Note 1), certified investments (Note 3), fair value measurements (Note 4), related party transactions (Note 6), and tax status (Note 8). The Plan's financial statement disclosures are neutral, consistent, and clear.

Form 5500 Procedures

We are required to obtain and read a substantially complete draft of Form 5500 prior to dating our auditors' report. The purpose of this procedure is to identify any material inconsistencies between the draft Form 5500 and the Plan's financial statements. We identified no material inconsistencies in performing and completing our audit.

Difficulties Encountered in Performing the Audit

We encountered no significant difficulties in dealing with Plan management in performing and completing our audit.

Corrected and Uncorrected Misstatements

Professional standards require us to accumulate all known and likely misstatements identified during the audit, other than those that are trivial, and communicate them to the appropriate level of management. No misstatements were corrected as a result of the audit. The attached schedule summarizes uncorrected misstatements of the financial statements. Management has determined that their effects are immaterial, both individually and in the aggregate, to the financial statements taken as a whole. The uncorrected misstatements or the matters underlying them could potentially cause future period financial statements to be materially misstated, even though, in our judgment, such uncorrected misstatements are immaterial to the financial statements under audit.

Reportable Findings

For purposes of this letter, a reportable finding is a matter that includes one or more of the following: (1) noncompliance or suspected noncompliance with laws and regulations, (2) a finding that in our professional judgment is significant and relevant to you regarding your responsibility to oversee the financial reporting process, and (3) an indication of internal control deficiencies identified during the audit that have not been previously communicated to management by other parties and that we determined are sufficiently important to merit management's attention. The reportable findings have been addressed on pages 2-3 of this letter.

Disagreements with Management

For purposes of this letter, a disagreement with management is a disagreement on a financial accounting, reporting, or auditing matter, whether or not resolved to our satisfaction, that could be significant to the Plan's financial statements or the auditors' report. We are pleased to report that no such disagreements arose during the course of our audit.

Management Representations

We have requested certain representations from Plan management that are included in the management representation letter dated October 5, 2023.

Management Consultations with Other Independent Accountants

In some cases, Plan management may decide to consult with other accountants about auditing and accounting matters, similar to obtaining a "second opinion" on certain situations. If a consultation involves application of an accounting principle to the Plan's financial statements or a determination of the type of auditors' opinion that may be expressed on those statements, our professional standards require the consulting accountant to check with us to determine that the consultant has all the relevant facts. To our knowledge, there were no such consultations with other accountants.

Other Audit Findings or Issues

We generally discuss a variety of matters, including the application of accounting principles and auditing standards, with Plan management each year prior to retention as the Plan's auditors. However, these discussions occurred in the normal course of our professional relationship and our responses were not a condition to our retention.

We communicated the significant risks of material misstatement identified as part of our audit planning in our engagement letter to you dated May 4, 2023. We did not identify any additional significant risks in performing and completing our audit.

Other Matters

Our responsibility for the ERISA-required supplemental schedule accompanying the financial statements is to perform adequate procedures to evaluate whether the form and content of the ERISA-required supplemental schedule, other than that agreed to or derived from the certified investment information, is presented in compliance with the DOL's Rules and Regulations for Reporting and Disclosure under ERISA, and whether the information in the supplemental schedule related to assets held by and certified to by a qualified institution agrees to, or is derived from, in all material respects, the information prepared and certified by an institution that management determined meets the requirements of ERISA Section 103(a)(3)(C).
