To the Plan Management of Truststaff Management, Inc. 401(k)
Profit Sharing Plan & Trust
4675 Cornell Road
Cincinnati, OH 45241

Except as discussed in the following paragraph, in planning and performing our audit of the financial statements of Truststaff Management, Inc. 401(k) Profit Sharing Plan & Trust (the Plan), an employee benefit plan subject to the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (ERISA), as of and for the year ended December 31, 2022, in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, we considered the Plan's internal control over financial reporting (internal control) as a basis for designing audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances for the purpose of issuing our report on the financial statements, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Plan's internal control. Accordingly, we do not express an opinion on the effectiveness of the Plan's internal control.

We were engaged to perform an ERISA Section 103(a)(3)(C) audit of those financial statements as permitted by 29 CFR 2520.103-8 of the Department of Labor's Rules and Regulations for Reporting and Disclosure under the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974. As permitted by ERISA Section 103(a)(3)(C), our audit did not extend to any statements or information related to assets held for investment of the Plan (investment information) by Reliance Trust Company, the trustee, that prepared and certified the statements or information regarding assets so held in accordance with 29 CFR 2520.103-5. Our audit also did not include a consideration of internal control relating to the investment information.

Our consideration of internal control was for the limited purpose described in the preceding paragraphs and was not designed to identify all deficiencies in internal control that might be material weaknesses or significant deficiencies and, therefore, material weaknesses or significant deficiencies may exist that have not been identified. However, as discussed below, we identified certain deficiencies in internal control that we consider to be material weaknesses and other deficiencies that we consider to be significant deficiencies. A reportable finding is an indication of deficiencies in internal control identified during the audit that have not been communicated to management by other parties and that, in the auditors' professional judgment, are of sufficient importance to merit management's attention.

A deficiency in internal control exists when the design or operation of a control does not allow management or employees, in the normal course of performing their assigned functions, to prevent, or detect and correct, misstatements on a timely basis. A material weakness is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies in internal control, such that there is a reasonable possibility that a material misstatement of the Plan's financial statements will not be prevented, or detected and corrected, on a timely basis.

A significant deficiency is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control that is less severe than a material weakness, yet important enough to merit attention by those charged with governance. We consider the following deficiencies in the Plan's internal control to be significant deficiencies and reportable findings:

Timely Remittance of Employee Contributions

During testing of contributions, we noted that there was inconsistency in the number of days that employee contributions were remitted to the Plan. The Department of Labor (DOL) requires that contributions be remitted to the Plan as soon as administratively possible, but no later than the 15th day of the following month in which contributions are withheld from an employee's payroll. Failure to remit participant contributions to the plan as soon as administratively possible can result in a prohibited transaction that must be separately reported to the DOL and may result in penalties to the Plan Sponsor.

We recommend that management review remittance procedures and determine the number of days in which it is administratively possible to make a remittance of employee contributions to the Plan. Once this threshold is established it is important to consistently remit employee contributions within the established number of days. We recommend management consider training an additional employee on the procedures for remitting plan contributions to ensure remittances are processed timely when the employee with primary responsibility is unavailable.

Census Reconciliation Process

During testing of the plan census, it was determined that the census was not reconciled to the year-end payroll information for the Plan. Upon this discovery, Plan Management worked to reconcile the census which required a new census to be created and the Plan to be subjected to non-discrimination testing after the creation of the new census. This also led to additional testing as part of the audit and delays in the audit process. The re-testing of the plan lead to a result of having less corrections needed for the plan, but a reversal of the original correction processed in employee accounts as a result of the first round of testing.

We recommend that management perform a reconciliation of the census prior to submitting the file for non-discrimination testing to ensure that the census information is reported correctly and that it agrees to the payroll information. We also recommend that the plan management work with the third-party service provider to restore the balances incorrectly forfeited from participant accounts and ensure lost earnings are provided for these.

This communication is intended solely for the information and use of management, and others within the Plan, and is not intended to be, and should not be, used by anyone other than these specified parties.
