Board of Directors
Novo Building Products Plan
Zeeland, MI

Except as discussed in the following paragraph, in planning and performing our audit of the financial statements of the Novo Building Products Plan (the “Plan”), an employee benefit plan subject to the Employee Retirement Security Act of 1974 (ERISA), as of and for the year ended December 31, 2024, in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, we considered the Novo Building Products Plan’s system of internal control over financial reporting (internal control) as a basis for designing audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances for the purpose of issuing our report on the financial statements, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Plan’s internal control. Accordingly, we do not express an opinion on the effectiveness of the Plan’s internal control.

We were engaged to perform an ERISA Section 103(a)(3)(C) audit of those financial statements as permitted by 29 CFR 2520.103-8 of the Department of Labor’s Rules and Regulations for Reporting and Disclosure under the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974. As permitted by ERISA Section 103(a)(3)(C), our audit did not extend to any statements or information related to assets held for investment of the Plan (investment information) by Fidelity Management Trust Company that prepared and certified the statements or information regarding assets so held in accordance with 29 CFR 2520.103-5. Our audit also did not include a consideration of internal control relating to the investment information.

Our consideration of internal control was for the limited purpose described in the preceding paragraphs and was not designed to identify all deficiencies in internal control that might be material weaknesses or significant deficiencies and, therefore, material weaknesses or significant deficiencies may exist that were not identified. However, as discussed below, we identified certain deficiencies in internal control that we consider to be significant deficiencies.

A deficiency in internal control exists when the design or operation of a control does not allow management or employees, in the normal course of performing their assigned functions, to prevent, or detect and correct, misstatements on a timely basis. A material weakness is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies in internal control, such that there is a reasonable possibility that a material misstatement of the Plan’s financial statements will not be prevented, or detected and corrected, on a timely basis. We did not identify any deficiencies in internal control that we consider to be material weaknesses.

A significant deficiency is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control that is less severe than a material weakness, yet important enough to merit attention by those charged with governance. We consider the following deficiency in the Novo Building Products Plan’s internal control to be a significant deficiency:

Untimely Automatic Enrollment

During our audit, we noted several newly eligible employees that were not automatically enrolled into the Plan during 2024 with no documentation of opting out, due to being entered into the payroll system as “A – Active” instead of “N – New Hire”.

One newly eligible employee was not automatically enrolled into the Plan, with no documentation of opt-out, due to an incorrect mailing address on file. Thus, Fidelity was not able to mail a letter notifying the employee of auto-enrollment and subsequently did not enroll the employee into the Plan.

According to the IRS, the plan sponsor is responsible for making corrective contributions for any matching contributions the participants would have been entitled to had they been auto-enrolled. We recommend that the plan sponsor work with Fidelity to calculate and contribute the missed matching contributions for the employees that became newly eligible in 2024 that were not auto-enrolled.

We will also recommend that the plan sponsor implement procedures to ensure that all new employees are being entered into the payroll system with the correct mailing address and status code prior to sending the information to Fidelity to ensure the auto-enrollment procedures are executed timely and accurately.

This communication is intended solely for the information and use of management, board of directors, and others within the Plan, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.

We wish to thank your staff for their support and assistance during the audit engagement.

Sincerely,

DOLINKA, VANNOORD & COMPANY, P.L.L.P.
