To Management

Johnston-Lee-Harnett Community Action, Incorporated

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements of Johnston-Lee-Harnett Community Action, Incorporated as of and for the year ended June 30, 2025, in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, we considered Johnston-Lee-Harnett Community Action, Incorporated's internal control over financial reporting (internal control) as a basis for designing audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. Accordingly, we do not express an opinion on the effectiveness of Johnston-Lee-Harnett Community Action, Incorporated's internal control.

A deficiency in internal control exists when the design or operation of a control does not allow management or employees, in the normal course of performing their assigned functions, to prevent, or detect and correct misstatements on a timely basis. A material weakness is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control over financial reporting, such that there is a reasonable possibility that a material misstatement of the entity's financial statements will not be prevented, or detected and corrected on a timely basis. A reasonable possibility exists when the likelihood of an event occurring is either reasonably possible or probable as defined as follows:

- Reasonably possible. The chance of the future event or events occurring is more than remote but less than likely.
- Probable. The future event or events are likely to occur.

Our consideration of internal control was for the limited purpose described in the first paragraph and was not designed to identify all deficiencies in internal control that might be material weaknesses. Given these limitations, during our audit we did not identify any deficiencies in internal control that we consider to be material weaknesses. However, material weaknesses may exist that have not been identified.

Our audit was also not designed to identify deficiencies in internal control that might be significant deficiencies. A significant deficiency is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control over financial reporting that is less severe than a material weakness, yet important enough to merit attention by those charged with governance. There were no significant deficiencies identified during our audit.

We consider the following deficiencies in the Organization's internal control over financial reporting to be control deficiencies that merit the attention of management:

Unemployment Accrual

Our audit procedures noted that the Organization allocates unemployment costs to its various programs throughout the year, with corresponding amounts recorded in a liability account. When the statement from the NC Department of Commerce is received, the Organization remits payment but does not adjust prior program charges for amounts accrued in excess of the actual liability. As a result, program expenditures were overstated. We recommend that the Organization establish policies and procedures to reconcile accrued unemployment expenses to the actual liability upon receipt of the statement and record any necessary adjustments to program expenditures.

Health Insurance Payable

During our audit, our procedures noted a health insurance invoice was not fully recorded as an expense and corresponding liability during the year. We recommend the Organization review its policies and procedures to ensure all invoices received are recorded completely and consistently within the accounting software.
