To Management, the Plan Administrator, and Administrative Committee
Sullivan, Inc. 401(k) Profit Sharing Plan

Except as discussed in the following paragraph, in planning and performing our audit of the financial statements of Sullivan, Inc. 401(k) Profit Sharing Plan as of and for the year ended December 31, 2025, in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, we considered Sullivan, Inc. 401(k) Profit Sharing Plan's internal control over financial reporting (internal control) as a basis for designing audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the plan's internal control. Accordingly, we do not express an opinion on the effectiveness of Sullivan, Inc. 401(k) Profit Sharing Plan's internal control.

Management has determined it is permissible in the circumstances and has elected to have the audit of the Plan's financial statements performed in accordance with ERISA Section 103(a)(3)(C) pursuant to 29 CFR 2520.103-8 of the DOL's Rules and Regulations for Reporting and Disclosure under ERISA. Therefore, as permitted by ERISA Section 103(a)(3)(C), the audit need not extend to any statements or information related to assets held for investment of the Plan (investment information) by a bank or similar institution or insurance carrier that is regulated, supervised, and subject to periodic examination by a state or federal agency, provided that the statements or information regarding assets so held are prepared and certified to by the bank or similar institution or insurance carrier in accordance with 29 CFR 2520.103-5 of the DOL's Rules and Regulations for Reporting and Disclosure under ERISA (qualified institution).

A deficiency in internal control exists when the design or operation of a control does not allow management or employees, in the normal course of performing their assigned functions, to prevent, or detect and correct, misstatements on a timely basis.

We are required to consider relevant Plan provisions that affect the risk of material misstatement at the relevant assertion level when designing and performing audit procedures. When audit work performed results in the identification of items that are not in accordance with specified criteria, such as Plan provisions as set forth in the Plan instrument, we are required to evaluate whether the matter is a reportable finding. Reportable findings are matters that are one or more of the following:

- a. An identified instance of noncompliance or suspected noncompliance with laws or regulations.
- b. A finding arising from the audit that is, in the auditor's professional judgment, significant and relevant to those charged with governance regarding their responsibility to oversee the financial reporting process.
- c. An indication of deficiencies in internal control identified during the audit that have not been communicated to management by other parties and that, in the auditor's professional judgment, are of sufficient importance to merit management's attention.

A reportable finding may be a material weakness, a significant deficiency, or a control deficiency defined as follows:

A material weakness is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control over financial reporting, such that there is a reasonable possibility that a material misstatement of the Plan's financial statements will not be prevented, or detected and corrected, on a timely basis. A reasonable possibility exists when the likelihood of an event occurring is either reasonably possible or probable as defined as follows:

- Reasonably possible. The chance of the future event or events occurring is more than remote but less than likely.
- Probable. The future event or events are likely to occur.

A significant deficiency is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control over financial reporting that is less severe than a material weakness, yet important enough to merit attention by those charged with governance.

A control deficiency is a deficiency, or combination of deficiencies, in internal control that does not rise to the level of a material weakness or significant deficiency but is of sufficient importance to merit management's attention.

We consider the following reportable finding in the Plan's internal control to be a material weakness:

Internal Control Over the Preparation of Financial Statements

The Plan does not have an internal control system designed to provide for the preparation of the financial statements and related financial statement disclosures being audited. As auditors, we were requested to draft the financial statements and accompanying notes to the financial statements. Although this circumstance is not unusual for a plan of your size, the preparation of financial statements as a part of the audit engagement may result in financial statements and related information included in financial statements disclosures not being available for management purposes as timely as if prepared by Plan personnel. It is the responsibility of management and those charged with governance to determine whether to accept the risk associated with this condition because of cost or other considerations.

Fidelity Bond

During our audit, we noted that the Plan did not have fidelity bond coverage. The Employee Retirement Income Security Act (ERISA) requires every employee benefit plan be covered by a fidelity bond to protect employee benefit plans from risk of loss due to fraud or dishonesty on the part of the persons who handle plan funds or other property. The plan must be bonded for at least 10% of the amount of funds within the plan subject to a minimum bond amount of $1,000 per plan and a maximum bond amount of $500,000 per plan, or a maximum of $1,000,000 per plan if the plan holds employer securities. Not obtaining the appropriate fidelity bond coverage could result in the Department of Labor taking a closer look at the plan or could result in the plan trustees becoming liable for any losses.

We consider the following reportable findings in the Plan's internal control to be significant deficiencies:

Compensation

As a result of audit procedures performed, we noted that severance payments made to employees and maternity leave were not included in eligible compensation for deferral calculations. This circumstance may expose the Plan Sponsor to a situation where corrective actions are required for the Plan to remain in compliance with regulations. We recommend Plan management contact the third-party administrator to determine the proper corrective actions with respect to the affected participants.

Meeting Minutes

During our audit, we noted that minutes were not kept of meetings regarding the Plan. The Employee Retirement Income Security Act (ERISA) defines numerous fiduciary duties trustees have in relation to the Plan. Among the fiduciary duties, trustees should hold timely, periodic meetings with minutes which document the activities of the fiduciary. The minutes should record that the trustees have regularly reviewed agreements with third party administrators and investment managers, compliance with 408(b)(2) service provider notices and also investment policies. In addition, reasons for changes in third party administrators, investment managers, and investment policies should be documented. The minutes should also record the trustees' review of the list of parties in interest and prohibited transactions; review and approval of trust statements; approval of benefit payments; employer contributions; and investment results. This important documentation establishes that the trustees are actively involved in managing the Plan for the benefit of the Plan's participants and their beneficiaries, which is part of their fiduciary responsibility.

Review of Payroll

During our audit, it was noted that there is no formal review of payroll processes and reconciliations. Due to the relatively small size of the Plan, ideal segregation of duties cannot be achieved. This is not unusual for a Plan of your size; however, the lack of segregation of duties increases the risk of fraud related to misappropriation of assets, financial statement misstatement, or both. The Plan Administrator and management should constantly be aware of this condition. It is the responsibility of management and those charged with governance to make the decision to accept the degree of risk associated with this condition because of cost or other considerations. While we recognize it may not be cost effective to justify implementing a full segregation of duties for an extensive system of internal control in all areas, we believe it is important that management and those charged with governance are aware that some deficiencies may exist and that they should continue to apply diligent oversight and monitoring activities.

Personnel Documentation

During our audit, we noted one instance in which written documentation could not be obtained to support the birth and hire date of a participant. Maintaining proper written documentation regarding participant data can safeguard the Plan and the Plan Sponsor. We recommend Plan management consider the implementation of procedures to ensure collection and maintenance of supporting documentation for the Plan.

Contribution Reconciliation

During our testing we noted one instance in which the deposits remitted to the trust did not agree to payroll records for one participant. The above issues could result in incorrect participant accounts and potentially incorrect compliance testing results which may require the Plan Sponsor to take corrective actions for the Plan to remain in compliance with regulations. We recommend management work with the third-party administrator to ensure any required corrections for the affected participants are made.

Our consideration of internal control was for the limited purpose described in the preceding paragraphs and was not designed to identify all deficiencies in internal control that might be considered reportable findings, including material weaknesses, significant deficiencies, or control deficiencies, and, therefore, reportable findings in these categories may exist that were not identified.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the Plan Administrator, Administrative Committee, and management of the Sullivan, Inc. 401(k) Profit Sharing Plan and is not intended to be, and should not be, used by anyone other than these specified parties.
