To the Management of
ViWinTech Window & Door, Inc. 401(k) Retirement Savings Plan

Except as discussed in the following paragraph, in planning and performing our audit of the financial statements of ViWinTech Window & Door, Inc. 401(k) Retirement Savings Plan (the “Plan”), an employee benefit plan subject to the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (ERISA), as of and for the year ended December 31, 2025, in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, we considered the Plan’s internal control over financial reporting (internal control) as a basis for designing audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances for the purpose of issuing our report on the financial statements, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Plan’s internal control. Accordingly, we do not express an opinion on the effectiveness of the Plan’s internal control.

We were engaged to perform an ERISA Section 103(a)(3)(C) audit of those financial statements as permitted by 29 CFR 2520.103-8 of the Department of Labor’s Rules and Regulations for Reporting and Disclosure under the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974. As permitted by ERISA Section 103(a)(3)(C), our audit did not extend to any statements or information related to assets held for investment of the Plan (investment information) by Empower Annuity Insurance Company of America and Empower Trust Company, LLC that prepared and certified the statements or information regarding assets so held in accordance with 29 CFR 2520.103-5. Our audit also did not include a consideration of internal control relating to the investment information.

Our consideration of internal control was for the limited purpose described in the preceding paragraphs and was not designed to identify all deficiencies in internal control that might be material weaknesses or significant deficiencies and, therefore, material weaknesses or significant deficiencies may exist that were not identified. However, as discussed below, we identified certain deficiencies in internal control that we consider to be significant deficiencies.

A deficiency in internal control exists when the design or operation of a control does not allow management or employees, in the normal course of performing their assigned functions, to prevent, or detect and correct, misstatements on a timely basis. A material weakness is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies in internal control, such that there is a reasonable possibility that a material misstatement of the Plan’s financial statements will not be prevented, or detected and corrected, on a timely basis. We did not identify any deficiencies in internal control that we consider to be material weaknesses.

A significant deficiency is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control that is less severe than a material weakness, yet important enough to merit attention by those charged with governance. We consider the following deficiencies in the Plan’s internal control to be significant deficiencies:

Participant Elections

Retirement plans are required to maintain documentation for participant elections and opt outs and participant elections should agree to deferral percentages in the payroll system to ensure participants are contributing at the rate they elect.

During our procedures, we noted that the enrollment process involves newly eligible employees filing out enrollment forms or making elections online on the Plan provider’s website and those enrollment forms and/or online elections being entered into the payroll system to determine deferrals for 401k contributions.

We noted instances of inconsistency between deferral rates per online elections and deferral rates in the payroll system which ultimately determine participant contributions. In some cases participants opted out by signing an opt out form that was reflected in the payroll system but not updated online, and in some cases online elections didn’t agree to elections in the payroll system.

We recommend management consider utilizing only one method for elections (and opt-outs), either online or paper election forms, to reduce administrative burden and increase consistency among participant elections and participant contributions. We suggest at each eligibility period that deferral rates be downloaded from the Plan provider's website and compared to rates in the payroll system to ensure consistency, proper documentation, and accuracy of contributions going forward.

This communication is intended solely for the information and use of management, and those charged with governance, and others within the Plan, and is not intended to be, and should not be, used by anyone other than these specified parties.

Sincerely,

CERTIFIED PUBLIC ACCOUNTANTS
