Plan Administrator, Trustee and Management
Schaller Auto World, Inc. Salary Deferral 401(k) Profit Sharing
New Britain, Connecticut

Except as discussed in the following paragraph, in planning and performing our audit of the financial statements of Schaller Auto World, Inc. Salary Deferral 401(k) Profit Sharing (the Plan), an employee benefit plan subject to the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (ERISA), as of and for the year ended December 31, 2025, in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, we considered the Plan's internal control over financial reporting (internal control) as a basis for designing audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances for the purpose of issuing our report on the financial statements, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Plan's internal control. Accordingly, we do not express an opinion on the effectiveness of the Plan's internal control.

We were engaged to perform an ERISA Section 103(a)(3)(C) audit of those financial statements as permitted by 29 CFR 2520.103-8 of the Department of Labor's Rules and Regulations for Reporting and Disclosure under ERISA. As permitted by ERISA Section 103(a)(3)(C), our audit did not extend to any statements or information related to assets held for investment of the Plan (investment information) by a qualified institution that prepared and certified the investment information in accordance with 29 CFR 2520.103-5 of the Department of Labor's Rules and Regulations for Reporting and Disclosure under ERISA. Our audit also did not include a consideration of internal control relating to the investment information.

Our consideration of internal control was for the limited purpose described in the first two paragraphs and was not designed to identify all deficiencies in internal control that might be material weaknesses or significant deficiencies and, therefore, material weaknesses or significant deficiencies may exist that were not identified. In addition, because of inherent limitations in internal control, including the possibility of management override of controls, misstatements due to fraud or error may occur and not be detected by such controls. However, as discussed below, we identified certain deficiencies in internal control that we consider to be significant deficiencies.

A deficiency in internal control exists when the design or operation of a control does not allow management or employees, in the normal course of performing their assigned functions, to prevent, or detect and correct misstatements on a timely basis. A material weakness is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control, such that there is a reasonable possibility that a material misstatement of the Plan's financial statements will not be prevented, or detected and corrected, on a timely basis.

Significant deficiencies

A significant deficiency is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control that is less severe than a material weakness, yet important enough to merit attention by those charged with governance. We consider the following deficiencies in the Plan's internal control to be significant deficiencies:

No Safe-Harbor Match Awarded for Eligible Contributions

During our 2025 audit we identified one participant who made an eligible pre-tax contribution to the Plan but did not receive a corresponding safe-harbor match contribution at the time of the contribution. It was also noted that this contribution was not funded as a part of the annual true-up. In order for the Plan to remain in compliance with IRS regulations the safe-harbor match contribution must be allocated to all eligible participants in accordance with the formula and computation period set forth in the Plan document. We recommend that Plan management work with the third-party administrator to take the necessary corrective action as soon as administratively feasible.

Uncorrected Late Deposits of Participant Contributions

During our 2025 audit, Plan management did not remit participant contributions totaling $1,612 to the Plan on a timely basis in accordance with the Department of Labor (DOL) regulations. DOL regulations require that amounts withheld from participants' wages become plan assets as of the earliest date on which those contributions can reasonably be segregated from the employer's general assets, and in no event later than the 15th business day of the month following the month of withholding. As of the date of our report, these late remittances remained uncorrected. We recommend that Plan management work with the third-party administrator to make the necessary corrections as soon as administratively feasible.

None of the identified significant deficiencies are considered to be material weaknesses.

Other deficiencies in internal control and other matters

During our audit, we became aware of other deficiencies in internal control and other matters that are opportunities to strengthen your internal control and improve the efficiency of your operations.

Reconciliation of Census to Payroll Reporting

During our audit, we noted variances between the census used for compliance testing and the payroll reporting for gross wages, pre-tax, Roth, and employer match contributions. We recommend that Plan management review the census and reconcile it to payroll reporting prior to submitting it to the Plan's third-party administrator.

Incorrect Match Calculation

During our audit, we noted that two participants appeared to receive a larger match contribution than they were entitled to for the 2025 Plan year that was not corrected through the annual true-up. We recommend that Plan management review the true-up calculation to ensure all required participants are included and work with the third-party administrator to take any corrective action deemed necessary.

Incorrectly Coded Match Contributions

During our audit, we noted that the first payroll cycle after the change in payroll providers was incorrectly coded as a non-safe-harbor match by ADP Retirement Services. As such, the match for this period was not factored into the annual true-up, resulting in affected participants receiving a larger benefit than they would have been entitled to had the contributions been properly classified. We recommend Plan management work with the third-party administrator to take any necessary corrective action.

Uncorrected Late Deposits of Safe-Harbor Match

As noted in the significant deficiencies section above, certain participant contributions were not remitted to the trust in the timeframe prescribed by the DOL. It is also noted that the safe-harbor match contributions corresponding to those participant contributions were not remitted to the Plan within the prescribed timeframe. We recommend that Plan management work with the third-party administrator to fund the match contributions and take any necessary corrective action as soon as administratively feasible.

Roth Contributions Not Withheld from Payroll

During our audit, we noted one participant who had a Roth contribution remitted to the Plan that was not withheld from payroll. We recommend that Plan management put a control in place to reconcile Plan contributions to payroll reporting on a pay period basis to ensure participants are credited with the correct contributions. We also recommend Plan management work with the third-party administrator to make any corrections to the affected participant's account.

Employee Deferral Election Not Reflected in Payroll

During our audit, we noted two participants who had elected to defer money into the plan on the ADP Retirement Services portal that were not reflected in payroll. This resulted in no money being withheld from payroll or deposited to the trust for these participants. This also caused the affected participants to not be able to participate in the match to which they were entitled. We also recommend that Plan management discuss the situation with the employees, and take corrective action as needed, including funding 50% of missed employee deferrals and 100% of missed company matching contributions plus lost earnings. We also recommend that Plan management develop controls to ensure that all deferral changes are documented and correct.

Reportable findings

Reportable findings are items that are not in accordance with the criteria specified (for example, not in accordance with the plan instrument). We consider the following matters communicated above to be reportable findings.

- No Safe-Harbor Match on Eligible Contributions
- Uncorrected Late Deposits of Participant Contributions
- Incorrect Match Calculation
- Uncorrected Late Deposits of Safe-Harbor Match Contributions
- Roth Contributions Not Withheld from Payroll
- Employee Deferral Election Not Reflected in Payroll
